Ottawa Will Stay Neutral In Air Canada's Dispute

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said today the threatened strike-grounding of Air Canada will be solved, if it is to be solved at all, by direct negotiations between the company and the union involved.

He said in the Commons that the government is taking "a completely neutral position" in the dispute which may result in a strike at 11:59 p.m. EST Sunday.

Opposition Leader Robert

Stanfield said Mr. Trudeau made a probable strike almost inevitable by saying Thursday that Air Canada had made an extremely generous wage offer which was bigger than the government itself would have proposed.

David Lewis, deputy NDP leader, said Mr. Trudeau had come down on the side of management.

Mr. Stanfield asked twice whether Labor Minister Bryce

Macksey is returning from vacation to take a hand in the negotiations.

Mr. Trudeau declined to reply directly but said the acting minister, Manpower Minister Allan MacEachen, is assisting in any way he can.

Former prime minister John Diefenbaker asked whether Mr. Trudeau would use the prestige of his office to bring the disputing parties together, in view of the prime minister's statement that the government is strictly neutral. Mr. Trudeau said he hasn't considered doing so.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked also whether the government would introduce legislation preventing strikes, that might stifle the economy.

Bonner Leans To Private Life And May Not Run As MLA Again

VANCOUVER (CP) — Robert Bonner said Thursday night he will announce his political plans this weekend—and added to indications he will not seek reelection as an MLA.

The former attorney-general said in a telephone interview from Quebec, B.C., that if he had intended to remain "indefinitely" in public life he would not have joined MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. as an executive.

Meanwhile, Jim Bann, president of the Social Credit association in the Cariboo riding, said Mr. Bonner told local officials last January to "shop around" for a local resident as a candidate.

Both comments followed a statement from J. V. Clyne, MacMillan Bloedel chairman, that "it can be embarrassing for senior officials to be in the legislature or in government when their own company is dealing with the government."

Mr. Bonner said he agreed with Mr. Clyne's feeling that "you can't sit on both sides of the fence."

Mr. Bonner resigned his portfolio last summer to join the company but remained as MLA for Cariboo. He won the seat in a byelection in 1966 after being defeated in Vancouver Point Grey.

Mr. Bonner said Thursday night he felt last year he "had an obligation" as the MLA for Cariboo but now had completed planned projects there or had "got them off to a good start."

CONFLICT FEARED
In Victoria, Mr. Clyne said it's not definite company policy but MacMillan Bloedel feels senior men shouldn't be forced into any conflicts of interest.

Blue-Eyed Colleen Wins Race To Be Youngest British MP

OMAGH (AP) — A blue-eyed colleen, 21-year-old Bernadette Devlin, is the youngest member of Britain's House of Commons in nearly 200 years after winning an all-woman race in Northern Ireland Thursday.

Miss Devlin, a campaigner for Roman Catholic civil rights and a "united Socialist Ireland," won a byelection in the mid-Ulster riding. She defeated Anna Forrest, widow of a veteran Unionist who represented the district until he died.

The vote was 33,648 to 29,437. In the 1968 election, Forrest had won with 29,728 votes to 27,168 for Republican candidate Thomas Mitchell.

Miss Devlin is the youngest member of the House of Commons since William Pitt the younger was elected in 1781, also at 21. He became prime minister at 24.

Miss Devlin is not the youngest member of Parliament. That distinction belongs to a member of the House of Lords—20-year-old Prince Charles, who is a member of the upper house because he is Duke of Cornwall.

But the heir to the throne has never taken his seat and probably never will.

Running as an independent, five-foot, brown-haired Miss Devlin campaigned from the back of an old delivery truck and preached "Ireland for the Irish."

WAGED QUIET FIGHT
Mrs. Forrest, a 43-year-old Protestant and the mother of three children, waged a quiet campaign. She said she would carry on her husband's Unionist policy, meaning mostly support for Northern Ireland's continuing as a member of the United Kingdom.

The daughter of a carpenter, Miss Devlin was orphaned at 19 and lives with her five brothers and sisters. She was a psychology student at Belfast University until she dropped out to run for the $7,800-a-year seat in Parliament. The salary, she says, is more money than she has ever seen.

She will be one of 28 women in Commons.

MAN TAKES ON NEW PHYSIQUE

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — A four-legged machine that walks and is designed to extend man's physical abilities was unveiled here.

The 3,000-pound Cybernetic Anthropomorphic Machine System stands 11 feet high and was developed for the military by General Electric. GE engineers said the machine when fully developed can be used to climb over tree trunks and hillocks, to lift itself out of stream beds, to load and unload heavy material and perform other heavy tasks.

A man rides inside the machine, which resembles a skeletal silver-hued horse with two yellow headlights for eyes. His hands operate CMAS' front legs, his legs direct CMAS' back.

Czechs Accept Dubcek Ouster

PRAGUE (AP) — Police reinforcements and soldiers guarded strategic points in Czechoslovakia today, but there were no reports of disturbances protesting the replacement of Alexander Dubcek as Communist party chief.

The 190-member central committee at a crisis meeting Thursday named Gustav Husak, the four pro-Moscow head of the Slovak party, to replace Dubcek.

Truckloads of police reinforcements and army armored cars were outside university buildings, at the National Assembly, near student dormitories and at factories.

No plans for demonstrations were reported so far, Moscow is reported to have warned that Soviet occupation troops would step in if local forces could not keep order.

PLENARY SESSION ENDS
CTK, the Czechoslovak news agency, said the central committee had finished its plenary session and further details of the leadership reshuffle would be announced later.

Duel Along Suez Continues Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel battled across the Suez Canal today with Egypt for the 12th straight day and with Jordan across the Jordan River ceasefire line for the fourth straight day.

An Israeli spokesman said Egyptian artillery opened fire north of Port Taufiq and in the area of El Qantara. He said the Israelis returned the fire. There was no immediate report on casualties or damage.

The spokesman said the Jordanian fire was directed at Israeli troops near Kibbutz Hamadia, south of the Sea of Galilee, and later mortar shells fell on another kibbutz at Moaz Haim.

The Jordanian announcement said the Israelis opened machine-gun and mortar fire on Jordanian forces at Tel Arabayen, in the northern Jordan Valley.

Commenting on the current heavy firing across the Suez Canal, Israeli Defence Minister Moshe Dayan told an Independence Day rally in Jerusalem Thursday it was "fireworks as far as its military or political value is concerned" and "is mostly for export."

However, "it serves a domestic purpose for the Arabs as well," he said. "They feel obliged to show that they are still doing something about the Israelis."

"It is by no means a renewal of war, although it could lead to it, especially if the Egyptians succeed in heating up the eastern front as well."

"If the Arabs in their fabricated reports appear so strong and the Jews so weak, pressure may build up in the Arab countries to launch the real thing."

Canada To Reduce Air Force As Well As Troops In NATO

OTTAWA (CP) — The phased reduction of Canadian forces in Europe, announced by Prime Minister Trudeau April 3, will get under way early next year with a 20-per-cent cut in Canada's NATO-assigned air division, informed observers are predicting.

The same 20-per-cent cut was to have been implemented this year but was deferred following the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Present strength of the air division is 4,200 men and six squadrons of aircraft. The number of men will fall to 3,800 later this year when the division's three bases in Germany are reduced to two.

The number of squadrons will remain the same, at least to the end of the year when Canada's present commitments expire.

There is a growing impression here that the air division will bear the brunt of the force-cutting program in the next few years.

The 6,000-man armored brigade group which Canada maintains in Germany is considered already at a viable minimum strength. In an emergency it would require 3,000 additional men to reach full strength and provide necessary reinforcements.

The air division, organized into squadrons, presumably could be whittled down further than the army brigade and still retain a semblance of operational viability.

Final Flood Fighting Moves Made On Red River's Banks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Last-minute flood-fighting preparations were being taken in Manitoba's Red River valley today as high water continued to roll northward from North Dakota.

At the border town of Emerson, 65 miles south of Winnipeg, machinery moved earth fill into position to plug gaps in the dike surrounding the town when necessary.

A flood control spokesman said permanent dikes on the river towns are high enough to contain predicted levels and it does not appear necessary to raise them.

Outside the town dikes, 400-odd farm homes have taken advantage of a federal-provincial protection program introduced after the last big flood year of 1966. Aid was given to raise homes and buildings beyond the high-water mark and build farmstead dikes.

Sandbags and plastic sheeting have been made available to more than 250 other homes on the flood plain.

The river continued to rise today but remained below flood stage.

At Lumsden, Sask., 17 miles north of Regina, the flood waters of the Qu'Appelle River are expected to remain at a level about two feet above dikes for another four to five days. The waters are contained by sandbags put up by townspeople and other volunteers earlier this week. The Saskatchewan government has asked 80 Armed Forces personnel to remain on patrol in the town until Sunday for maintenance purposes.

The United States share of the Canadian import market has climbed to about three-quarters of the total. The British share had declined to about one-sixteenth.

Nixon Gets Tough With North Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon ordered today continuation of United States reconnaissance plane flights near North Korea and said "They will be protected."

Nixon reported the flights had been discontinued after the shooting down of one of the unarmed planes Tuesday by North Korean jet aircraft.

Then he said: "I have today ordered that these flights be continued. They will be protected. That is not a threat. It is merely a statement of fact."

Nixon told his fifth news conference as president that the North Korean attack on the EC-121 had been "unprovoked, deliberate, without warning."

He reported the plane was flying away from North Korea at the time of attack because its mission had been "aborted," that is it had been ordered cancelled.

FIGHTERS SPOTTED
Presumably the cancellation was ordered because U.S. radar had picked up the take-off of two Mi-G fighter planes from a North Korean field.

The U.S. plane, Nixon said, had never gone closer than 40 miles to the Korean coast and at the time of the attack was 80 miles from North Korea over the international sea.

The reason for the reconnaissance flights, Nixon said, is threats and hostile actions against South Korea by North Korea.

He noted the U.S. has 56,000 troops in South Korea and said threats against South Korea are also threats against those troops. It is the responsibility of commanders to do everything necessary to protect them, he added.

RULES OUT RETALIATION

Nixon pictured the reconnaissance flights as part of the defence strategy for those forces. He said "We have had a policy of reconnaissance flights for 20 years" and reported there had been 180 such flights this year in the North Korean area.

The shooting down of the plane Tuesday apparently cost 31 American lives. Nixon apparently ruled out earlier this week any military retaliation—such as an air strike against the North Korean base from which the fighter planes took off.

He decided instead on a protest directly to North Korea.

Nixon said the plane incident is different from the Pueblo affair because there was some question for a time where the U.S. spy ship was at the time of its capture by North Korean gunboats.

"There was no uncertainty what ever where this plane was," he said. "There is no question of what they claim is their air space."

Returning to his pledge to provide future flights with protection, Nixon said: "When planes of the United States or ships of the U.S. are in international air space, they are not fair game, they will not be fair game in the future. That was the basis for this interim decision."

Britain May Have To Get Tough 'And Drive Harder Bargains'

LONDON (CP) — Sir Peter Runge, chairman of the British National Export Council, said today Britain may be forced to drive hard bargains in order to achieve a balance in overseas trade.

Addressing the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the sugar industrialist said that Anglo-Canadian trade has not been developing "in an altogether satisfactory way."

In the 1960-68 period, Britain's exports to Canada increased by only 20 per cent while those of Canada to Britain rose by 50 per cent. In 1968 Britain experienced a deficit of $642,000,000 in trade with Canada "and this was not an exceptional year," Sir Peter added in his prepared speech.

The United States share of the Canadian import market has climbed to about three-quarters of the total. The British share had declined to about one-sixteenth.

Sir Peter said he acknowledged that there may be shortcomings in some British exports but Britons were not mediocre.

"Anybody who sells Britain short is making the biggest mistake of his life," he said.

He noted that over the years Britain provided some of her overseas food suppliers with special privileged positions in the British market.

"I seriously suggest that we are no longer in a position to afford to behave like this," he said.

"One sometimes hears it said that if Britain embarks on a policy of driving a hard bargain, it will set a spark to a train leading to world-wide retaliatory actions. I doubt that."

"For one thing Britain is a very important buyer of food in the world and the customer is always right. For another, hard bargains are already being struck by buyers of a raw material."

Stanley Gray, a McGill University lecturer, Thursday protested that procedural rulings by his arbitration committee have excluded as irrelevant most of his defence against charges he has disrupted university business. He accused the panel of taking a "narrow" and "legalistic" approach to the case and of rejecting without a hearing his view of the political situation in the university which, he says, justifies his actions at three meetings of university bodies.

Canada and Australia are developing closer ties through Ottawa's increasing interest in the Pacific region, former prime minister Lester Pearson said today on his arrival in Melbourne from the capital of Canberra.

Spring convocation ceremonies of Notre Dame University of Nelson will include the installation as chancellor of Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside. Also honored at the convocation May 4 will be retiring president Father Aquinas Thomas, who is leaving in June after completing 10 years as university president.

VIETNAM WAR

U.S. Blamed For Build-Up

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong accused the United States today of stalling the Vietnam peace talks to build up South Vietnamese military forces so that they could take over the fighting.

Tran Buu Kiem of the National Liberation Front told the 13th weekly meeting of the enlarged peace talks that the aim of the United States is to gain time for the "de-Americanization" of the war.

Kiem hit again at the U.S. proposal for the simultaneous withdrawal of foreign troops, calling it an absurd request. He said the Saigon government is still insisting that the North Vietnamese troops must withdraw first.

This apparently was a reference to differences reported between Saigon and Washington on troop withdrawal. The U.S. "manoeuvre is clear," Kiem said. "They want to keep this conference at a standstill so as to gain time in implementing what they call the 'de-Americanization' or 'Vietnamization' of the war, that is the strengthening of the puppet army and administration, to use Vietnamese to fight Vietnamese, to drag on the aggressive war. . . ." Ambassador Lawrence Walsh, U.S. deputy representative, left the meeting after Kiem's statement and told correspondents that he found nothing new in it.

B.C. 'Turning To Socialism'

WINDERMERE, B.C. (CP) — To continue with Premier Bennett in office is to guarantee a socialist take-over at some future date, Liberal leader Pat McGeer said here Thursday night.

"Social Credit is doing such a bad job of providing services to people and protecting our land from plunder and depopulation it is turning people to socialism," he said. The Liberal leader told a meeting of the Windermere Chamber of Commerce that socialism is not the answer. "The New Democratic Party under Thomas Berger is the most anti-industrial party in North America," he said.

Dr. McGeer called for an early election, and said the NDP must be reduced to a small minority because it would be dangerous to do anything else. "The B.C. government cannot be a political sandbox for the new left."

"British Columbia is no place to experiment with socialist economic theories, either now or in the future."

NON-DRINKING PREMIER STATES HOW DRINKING SHOULD BE DONE

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett believes the increase in leisure time should be reflected in British Columbia's drinking parlors.

The testal premier told a news conference Thursday he did not want to influence beforehand the deliberations of a commission now investigating liquor laws in B.C. but listed his preferences anyway.

He rejected, however, a suggestion made last year by Mines Minister Frank Richter that wine be sold in B.C. grocery stores.

The premier said he is not satisfied that the system of bars and beer parlors in the province "where people go to slug them back" — is working.

He said he hopes the government commission, headed by Mr. Justice C. W. Morrow, will bring down a broad range of reforms.

"We are in a period of more leisure and our liquor laws should reflect this," he said.

He said he would like to see bars and beer parlors run more as clubs where patrons could go to play billiards, checkers or dominoes.

"I don't think Canadians are very good at darts," he said, referring to the traditional game in English pubs.

The premier said wine sales should remain in government outlets and that he disapproves of alcoholic beverages appearing on grocery bills.

Daughter Says Wasylenchuk Not Linked To Kidnapping

VANCOUVER (CP) — The late John Wasylenchuk, named by a kidnap suspect as the man behind the kidnapping of a Vancouver woman, was at home at the time of the abduction, his daughter said Thursday.

Elizabeth Wasylenchuk, 22, was testifying in British Columbia Supreme Court during the trial of Wilfred Redlac, charged with the kidnapping last May 28 of socialite Mrs. Dallis Boulbee.

Redlac has said Wasylenchuk hired him for $2,500 to assist in the "fake" kidnapping of Mrs. Boulbee. Wasylenchuk died of a heart attack last October.

Redlac has testified Wasylenchuk told him the kidnapping was arranged by Mrs. Boulbee so she could get a property settlement from her estranged husband, realtor E. Leonard Boulbee.

200 Militant Students Seize Columbia University Building

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
About 200 militants seized a Columbia University building in New York for a seven-hour sit-in marked by a violent clash with security guards as several university campuses in the United States continued to stir with student unrest.

The Columbia group voluntarily left Philosophy Hall late Thursday after being served with a restraining order. The students emerged chanting: "This is just the start. We will win."

Two administration officials accompanied by security guards served the court order. They were met by students who unleashed a barrage of bottles and discharged fire extinguishers.

The officials escaped by throwing a chair through a window and jumping to safety. Three students were injured and one of the officials was cut on the wrist.

Many of the students then broke up furniture in the building.

Canada, Japan Hopeful Of Vietnam War's End

TOKYO (AP) — Canadian and Japanese cabinet ministers closed their conference today with a strong hope for an end to the Vietnam war.

The fifth meeting of the Japan-Canada ministerial committee opened Thursday at the foreign ministry building with External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp leading the Canadian delegation and his counterpart Kiichi Aichi at the head of the Japanese delegates.

During the two-day conference, Sharp met with Aichi privately and discussed Canada's move to establish diplomatic relations with Communist China.

Sharp told Aichi Canada will negotiate with Peking from the standpoint that there is only one China.

He said his country wants to deal with the problem of opening diplomatic relations with Peking separately from the issue of the Chinese representation at the United Nations.

A joint communique issued at the end of the conference said the delegates of the two countries "strongly hoped that the talks now being held in Paris would promptly lead to a peaceful settlement of the (Vietnam) problem."

The communique said the ministers recognized that "the broadest possible international co-operation would be needed to secure the peace and attain the prosperity of the region," after peace is restored in Vietnam.

Canada and Japan, the communique added will spare no effort to strengthen further the close consultations and co-operation through such organizations as the Asian Development Bank to help the Asian countries improve their welfare.

The ministers "reaffirmed the importance of the two countries' attachment to the International Grains Arrangement . . . and expressed concern about protectionist moves which would frustrate efforts for free trade."

TRADE EXPANDING
They noted the continuing increase in the bilateral trade since their last meeting and predicted further expansion of trade with increasingly close economic relations.

The Canadian ministers expressed their strong interest in diversifying their exports, which the communique said, are heavily concentrated in primary foodstuffs and industrial raw material.

This giraffe-like mechanical gadget makes pear tree pruning a faster process than it used to be. Riding the controls in the lift, this Glenmore orchardist controls the entire operation from his perch in the sky. The mechanical pruning-lifts, although they have been on the market for a number of years, are now gaining popularity in Valley orchards. One man can accomplish the work of many in a day. Even the pruning shears themselves are mechanically powered. Pruning began in February, as soon as the snow was off the grounds. But the pear trees, the last to blossom, are now in the final stages of the pruning operation. Other fruit trees have already their wings clipped this year. (Courier photo)

Brenda Plagued By More Strikes

Brenda Mines, plagued by strike action by 425 construction workers Tuesday who refused to cross picket lines set up by 20 members of the Plumbers' Union, now has another headache.

Work at the huge project is now further slowed by a walk-off of about 90 production employees today.

A statement issued by Brenda Mines Ltd., today confirms strike action by both production employees and the Plumbers' Union, and adds: "G. H. Montgomery (Brenda Mines manager) stated this work stoppage by Brenda Mine employees is illegal. It should be clearly understood the strike by the Plumbers' Union involves construction companies at the site only, and has nothing to do with the production operation of Brenda."

'Dixie', Soldier Of Fortune Dies Short Of 100th Birthday

Calhoun Lee (Dixie) Jackson, soldier of fortune, Klondike pioneer and kin of generals Robert E. Lee and Andrew Jackson, died at his Okanagan Mission home Wednesday, five months short of his 100th birthday.

Known to many in the Kelowna area as "Dixie", Mr. Jackson's colorful life span stretched almost a century back to a farm in Virginia where he was born in 1869. Raised by a Negro slave until early manhood, Mr. Jackson's adventuresome spirit soon sought out the action areas of the world, and he was believed to have been the only known survivor of the Boxer Expedition to China in 1890. He learned to speak the language fluently, and later added Spanish to his bilingual repertoire.

During the First World War, Mr. Jackson is believed to have been with the British Imperial Army, where he served as a chef. Back on North American soil after the war, Mr. Jackson's keen curiosity for challenge and change soon swept him North to the Klondike gold rush. He got his first sight of Kelowna in 1928, where he cooked for various logging camps and later exercised his culinary talents as a tow-bait crew member. Apart from his proficiency as a chef Mr. Jackson was also adept at fortune-telling, a craft he learned from his "Mammy". So far as is known, Mr. Jackson has no surviving relatives in Canada, and lived quietly at his Mission residence until the time of his death.

Funeral services will be held from The Garden Chapel Monday at 1:30 p.m., with Rev. R. E. P. Berry officiating. Burial will be at Kelowna cemetery. The Garden Chapel Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Damage Totals Almost $1,000 In Three Overnight Accidents

Almost $1,000 damage, but no serious injuries, were the result overnight of three separate traffic accidents in the district.

A two-car collision at 12:20 p.m. Thursday in the intersection of Harvey Avenue and Glenmore Street left the occupant of one vehicle with a slight bump on the head. No one else was injured. Drivers in the $500 crash were Rosemary Schuster, 1429 Lynwood Cres., and Romeo Orlande, 1333 Belaire Ave.

William Hesketh, Vernon, and Ralph Wass, Westbank, were the drivers in a two-car collision at Highway 97 and Campbell Road Thursday at 5:30 p.m. Both vehicles were travelling in the same direction. RCMP estimated damage at about $250.

Another two-car collision occurred moments earlier at Pandosy Street and Leon Avenue. The vehicles were driven by Reynold Zieske, White Road, and Sharon Klenas, Westbank. Police said the Zieske vehicle was travelling north on Ellis Street and the Klenas car west on Leon Avenue at the time of the collision. Damage was about $225.

STATEMENT
A statement in a report of the Regional District of Central Okanagan pertaining to garbage disposal sites erroneously attributed a statement dealing with the district engineer as having been made by George Whitaker. The statement should have been attributed to Mel Marshall.

UNSETTLED conditions are again predicted today, with sunny periods clouding over this afternoon. The situation won't improve overnight, with cloudy conditions prevailing tinged with showers. The uncertain weather will continue Saturday, with cloud and sunny intervals interspersed with showers the order of the day. Winds should be light, except occasionally southerly 20 in main valleys. High and low Thursday was 32 and 37, with 13 precipitation. High and low for the same period last year was 58 and 40, with 63 inches of precipitation. High and low tonight and Saturday should be 55 and 49.

Report Ready On Planning Pilot Project

Results of a pilot project by grade 11 students of Kelowna Secondary School on urban planning, will be submitted to city council.

Reporting on the study at a recent meeting of the Kelowna Advisory Planning Commission, Denis Stuber, social studies teacher at the school in charge of the pilot project, said the study was based on such civic problems as downtown parking and traffic, malls, housing, industrial areas and more use of beaches and the redecoration of older commercial buildings. The student reports will be presented at a joint meeting of city council and the planning commission later this month.

A sum of money for the purchase of books dealing with planning and urban studies will be presented to the Kelowna Secondary School.

Mr. Stuber will attend an annual short course on community planning at the University of British Columbia next month as part of the pilot urban planning program.

Greg Stevens, city planner, reported on four zone change applications to be considered at a public hearing Monday. An apartment development proposal at Birch Road and Bernard Avenue will also be discussed. Named chairman of a committee to study the functions of the advisory planning commission was Dr. Harold Henderson. George Barnes was chairman of the meeting.

Pocket Knife Pantless Man

Bail was set at $500 for Thomas McClockie, of Winfield, charged Thursday with possession of an offensive weapon (a pocket knife) for a purpose dangerous to the public safety. McClockie, who appeared in court without his pants but with a blanket wrapped around him, pleaded not guilty to the charge. He was remanded to April 25 by Kelowna magistrate D. M. White.

Edward N. H. Roderick, Kelowna, was today fined $250 and placed on a $500 bond with his commitment to join Alcoholics Anonymous, and attend their meetings regularly, after pleading guilty Thursday to a charge of obtaining groceries by means of a worthless cheque.

Also today Roger Gruending, of Kelowna, was remanded in custody with bail set at $1,000 cash on a charge of causing a local bank to act on a $350 forged cheque Nov. 15, 1968. There was no election or plea on the charge.

A Salmon Arm cattle man, R. G. Arnold, was fined a total of $125 on two counts of shipping stock without first submitting the animals for inspection. The charges were laid under the Stock Brands Act.

The accused's counsel, Kelowna lawyer Don Gurney, suggested to the court that there "is some confusion in the administration of the act in this district."

But magistrate D. M. White said that where a person "contravenes the act for his own purposes," he should be made to pay.

An 18-year-old Prince George girl was fined $50 after pleading guilty to a charge of selling magazines in the city without a licence. Anita Luntz, an employee of Local Readers' Service of Canada Ltd., was charged Wednesday following several complaints from Kelowna residents and businesses.

"Mr. Miller (the company's travelling representative) in fact had two girls in the city," submitted Kelowna licence inspector D. R. Johnson.

But one of the girls had apparently left the company's employ and the city he said.

Commented magistrate White: "People in stores have to pay a $500 fee to sell magazines. It is not therefore fair to those establishments that you should be able to carry on here for nothing."

In other court business today Lorne Curtis Herman, 18, of Rutland, was fined $50 after pleading guilty to a charge of being in possession of liquor while a minor.

Chamber Registers Relief At Mild Tone Of Shuswap Brief

A sigh of relief has been heaved by the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce.

The group was worried about opposition to the Shuswap water diversion scheme from a Salmon Arm organization that presented a brief on the subject to the House of Commons standing committee on agriculture here last Monday.

However, the opposition did not materialize. The Shuswap River Control Association brief, as the chamber directors heard Thursday, only went as far as asking that certain precautions be taken with water diversion.

And it was probably handed to the wrong federal group in any case, one director said.

"They are going to have to be a lot better organized and have more public support before they can accomplish anything," Jack Gerein told the directors.

Mr. Gerein, who heads the chamber's agricultural committee, registered satisfaction with the one-day visit by the 30 MPs sitting on the committee. "To be able to get a group of this size is something you could not buy with all the money in the world," he said, explaining that lobbying in Ottawa often yields only minimal returns.

"We (the Okanagan fruit industry) had a very good exposure. I'm satisfied the visit was handled well and that the committee was favorably impressed."

"This sort of thing does a tremendous amount of good to the industry; not today, but tomorrow, in the long run," Mr. Gerein predicted.

Chamber Enters Bathtub Race

Out of the business suit and into the bathtub.

That's the switch to be made by the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce Aug. 8. After a light-hearted debate on the subject, the chamber's directors have become the latest group to enter the 30-mile bathtub race held as part of Regatta festivities this summer.

In addition, an official challenge will be issued to the Vernon and Penticton chambers to take on the Kelowna businessmen in the big race.

After meticulously filling in the official-looking entry form from the Kelowna Companions of the Bath, the directors appointed Bill Stevenson, chamber manager, as chief pilot and organizer.

"Can I charge swimming lessons to the chamber?" Mr. Stevenson wanted to know.

C. OF C AT WORK

New B.C. Rep To Be Greeted

The Kelowna Chamber of Commerce will welcome John Tibbitts, the Western Canada representative on the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at a special visit here May 6. Acting as a troubleshooter for local chambers in the western provinces, Mr. Tibbitts is leaving the post shortly and will bring B.C.'s representative on the Canadian chamber to be introduced here. He is David Gibson, recently appointed to the post. Bruce Smith, B.C. chamber vice-president and a Canadian chamber director, has been invited also.

A crusade by the Merritt Chamber of Commerce to bring a copper smelter to B.C. is being studied by the Kelowna chamber. Although private studies have indicated the smelter would not be economically feasible, the Merritt group is striving to bring about a provincial government study on the topic.

Chamber membership was granted to McDermid Miller and McDermid Ltd., represented by Gene E. Heagle.

The still-unpublished Canadian Chamber of Commerce statement of policy for the coming year is now in the hands of local chamber directors for study.

Ken Harding, past Kelowna chamber president, and manager Bill Stevenson will represent Kelowna at a meeting in Seattle this weekend of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association.

Local Engineer Bids Farewell

The city's engineers bid farewell Thursday to Dick Talbot, the district engineer for the B.C. water rights branch, who leaves Kelowna at the end of the month to take a post in New Westminster.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson and 16 members of the Central B.C. branch of the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C. honored Mr. Talbot at a luncheon.

The well-known engineer will take on new duties with the Fraser River Flood Control group in New Westminster.

He was thanked for his contribution to the engineering profession in the Valley and on being an "outstanding citizen of Kelowna". Mr. Talbot was active in the B.C. Dragons.

Power Squadron Elects Wakefield

Phil Wakefield, Kelowna, was appointed squadron commander of the Kelowna Power Squadron at an executive meeting Monday.

Named to other 1969 posts were: Ken Geir, executive officer; Russ Martin, treasurer; Denis Lawrence, secretary. Archie Stubbs was appointed training officer in charge of graduation ceremonies scheduled for May 9.

SEEN and HEARD

James Mills, vendor, Liquor Control Board, and Allen Tyrell, vocational instructor, B.C. Vocational School, Kelowna, have successfully completed an intensive eight-month correspondence course in public administration sponsored by the British Columbia Civil Service Commission. Dr. Hugh Morrison, chairman of the Civil Service Commission presented certificates to 36 provincial government employees at a luncheon held at Parkville, Vancouver Island, April 2 the final day of a three-day workshop on staff management.

The mail gets through. The Courier received a letter today addressed to The Local Newspaper, Okanagan, Alberta. The sender was from Peigraue, Ontario.

Kelowna motorists are a trail-blazing lot. There's a diversion on Abbott Street between Strathcona and Rose avenues due to drainage work being carried out. This means that travellers on Abbott Street should have to drive all the way up to Pandosy, pass the hospital and continue the loop back to Abbott Street. Quite a lengthy drive, so the pioneers have decided on a short cut, across the lot west of the hospital only a little way up from Abbott. Already the bumps and muddy patches are being wheeled into a reasonable track, but the legality of the manoeuvre remains in doubt.

Children are really car-conscious these days. One future contributor to motor-vehicle-owners got so carried away in his projected role, he parked his three-foot "car" in an angle parking slot on Bernard Wednesday night.

Took 3 Years To Bring DDF Finals To Kelowna

The feathers in Kelowna's cap for bringing nationally important events to the city have by this time developed into quite a war bonnet. And now, the biggest feather of them all — the Dominion Drama Festival Finals, to be held here May 19 to 24.

Until this year, Kelowna's biggest and best national event was the 1968 Brier, but even this pales in comparison beside the DDF finals. For instance the Brier brought about 45 competitors and other personnel to the city. The DDF will bring more than 150 visiting players and technicians from across Canada, as well as other special visitors.

Also consider that the climax to the year's competition among Canada's best amateur theatre groups will spark interest in a wider selection of the population than the championship curling did last year.

Nation-wide television coverage of the week's events will bring the drama — and Kelowna — into homes across the country.

Kelowna has also shown itself worthy in past years of being host to events of the magnitude of the DDF finals. Although by far the smallest community ever to host the Brier, Kelowna ranked 14th in attendance out of 27 cities that have had the curling event. Of those people that packed the rink, 90 per cent were Kelowna citizens. Of the rest, 75 per cent had attended previous Briers.

From ticket sales so far, indications are the DDF finals will be just as well, if not better, attended.

From a purely physical standpoint, Kelowna is also worthy of the DDF. In addition to the beauty of the area itself, the city has a good theatre. DDF officials visiting the city several months ago expressed complete satisfaction with the size and facilities of the Kelowna Community Theatre.

And of course, the finals will shine out the biggest cultural light ever to brighten the B.C. Interior. The best of Canada's amateur actors, and the best of Canada's playwrights will be on stage here, coming from as far away as Sydney, N.S.

Although anyone connected with the finals already knows, this fact bears repeating — a big plug must go to Dr. John Bennett, chairman of the local DDF committee, for bringing the finals here.

Dr. Bennett, a local gynecologist, put Kelowna's war bonnet on more than three years ago when he was elected to the B.C. Drama Association Executive and was named chairman of the One Act Finals Festival, held here May, 1967.

He was also elected to serve as governor on the DDF executive in 1965 and began the long fight to bring the DDF finals here. Through-out 1966 and 1967 he lobbied members of the national executive, governors in all the provinces, professionals who had worked with the DDF and "anyone who would listen".

The inkling of victory came in May, 1967, when retiring DDF president John Brook spoke out in favor of Dr.

Bennett's plan. The occasion was the DDF finals in St. Johns, Nfld.

Dr. Bennett then turned to the city of Kelowna and the B.C. government for a grant-in-aid to add strength to the bid for the DDF finals here. The applications were successful and a long list of supporters added their voices — the city, the chamber of commerce, Kelowna Little Theatre, the B.C. Drama Association and the Kelowna and District Arts Council.

The final brief asking for the finals was presented in October 1967 to the DDF national executive. In February of the next year, Kelowna learned it had been chosen over Stratford, Fredericton, Winnipeg and Saskatoon.

No less than $25,000 had to be raised locally, and a committee was drafted in 1968 — and has been working since.

This three-year battle by Dr. Bennett and his committee indicates the community spirit that lies with the citizens of Kelowna.

Another recent example of this occurred last month. When Kelowna announced it would make a bid, along with Penticton, to bring the 1971 Canadian Winter Games here, the phone began to ring. Literally dozens of individuals and groups called to volunteer their services in any possible way.

So with the stage set for the DDF finals next month, the last lap begins. There are still hundreds of details to be worked out, accommodation to be found for nearly 200 people, work to be done at the community theatre.

This marks the ninth time the finals have been held west of Ontario during the 26 years of DDF history. Interior B.C. has never had the finals, and B.C. has played host only three times — twice in Victoria, once in Vancouver.

As in other subjects, the east-west dichotomy is causing troubles within the DDF. In a recent B.C. Drama Association survey, the majority of theatre personnel in all provinces west of Manitoba stated they felt western Canada is isolated from the national purposes of the DDF.

B.C. actors felt the present system of choosing only one play from the four western provinces is unfair, and asked for more western representation. The system "makes it an eastern festival" according to Alberta people answering the questionnaire. The BCDA, which was considering withdrawing from the DDF concluded: "... the DDF no longer serves the needs of theatre today nor effectively fulfills its aims." The group recommended a complete re-organization of the DDF.

If the Western provinces really are getting the short end of the DDF stick, now is the time to begin the dialogue for improvements. "What's to become of the DDF" should be a major topic added to the schedule of workshops this year, while the DDF people are in Western Canada where most of the discontent lies. From the past record of finals locations, the chance won't come again for at least three or four years.

Ye Olde Red Lion Changes To Keep Abreast Of Times

used to take home nostalgic memories of British pubs with their smoky charm, quaint regulars clutching pints of bitter and buxom barmaids pulling the hefty beer pumps.

That old-world air is fading. Britain's brewers, major owners of pubs here, are spending around $25,000,000 a year constructing modern taverns and renovating old ones.

There are still plenty of quiet havens for connoisseurs, but they are getting harder to find.

Class barriers that divided beer and liquor drinkers are crumbling as the spartan public bars and posher saloons bare, once a feature of most pubs, are merged into new classless lounge bars.

Traditional pub food such as bangers (sausages) and mashed and kidney pie is giving way to Continental cuisine as pubs acquire a more sophisticated appearance. Even the old names of inns and taverns across Britain are moving with the times.

Until recently pub decor followed Victorian and Edwardian tastes with ornate brass rails and trimmings; stained oak panelling hung with heavy gilt mirrors; polished teak bars and square, serviceable furniture.

National heroes, historic events and heraldic symbols were prime sources for names. Every town and village had pubs with names like Red Lion, George and Dragon, Victoria and Albert, or Trafalgar Inn.

On Saturday nights, regulars would cluster round the old "joanna"—piano—for a "knees up" and a rousing rendition of some old-time music hall favorites.

Now an unwary stranger is likely to be hit by juke-box pop music if he wanders into one of the new-style steel and glass, pubs like The Bird's Nest in suburban Twickenham, or The Druggstore in trend-setting Chelsea.

The brewery combines, owning most of Britain's 73,000 taverns, inns and licensed hotels, are sponsoring more experimental and specialized pubs to lure people who normally rarely drop in for a pint.

The Bird's Nest is one of the new breed of "disco-pubs" where youngsters come to dance as well as drink, while The Druggstore, loosely based on North American drugstores, so far stands as one of a kind.

An old Victorian pub which stood on Chelsea's pulsating King's Road was converted last year at a cost of £180,000 into a dazzling blend of pub and boutique selling way-out clothes, wigs, magazines, records, cosmetics and candy, as well as liquor and beer.

ATTRACTS ARTY SET

Chelsea's arty set crowd the futuristic aluminum, stainless steel and marble bars and shops from eight in the morning until 1 a.m. the next. With all its other attractions, the owners estimate only about one-third of their profits come from alcohol.

In west London, a pub called The Western was recently converted into a carbon-copy Wild West saloon and renamed The Silver Dollar.

Even a sober-minded bank and insurance workers' gathering for a lunchtime drink in the nautical Square Rigger, opened in the financial centre of the City of London a couple of years ago. They lean against carved ships' figureheads and dodge fishing nets hanging from the ceiling, alongside the River Thames and the bustling Port of London.

Amid all this change, pub games are sadly declining. Darts, pub billiards, shove ha'penny and skittles are being replaced by gambling machines and juke-boxes.

In Birmingham, a nother British first has opened—the "maxi-pub." Costing £500,000, and boasting eight bars, it is claimed to be the largest in Europe and the only one in the country where you can go on a bar crawl without leaving the building.

HAS MORE ROOM

"This is a real pub," emphasizes a manager Frank Beecham who heads a staff of 100.

"You get Tom, Dick and Harry coming along regularly for their pint. The only difference is there is more room for more Toms, Dicks and Harrys."

Imants Ozolins, decor adviser to the owners of the youth-oriented Bird's Nest, says the trend will be towards matching the pub to the sort of customers it can expect.

"The Bird's Nest was meant for a specific area and a specific sort of customer," says Ozolins. "It's a success. You don't often see people queuing to get into a pub. But of course, we also believe in the ordinary, good old drinking pub with beer mats, foot rests and pump handles."

Pub lovers will drink to that.

BIBLE BRIEF

"Wherefore we labor, that, whether present or absent, we may be accepted of him." — 2 Corinthians 5:9.

In an age when everyone is striving for acceptance in one way or another, make your goal one of pleasing your Maker. This is all that really counts.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Disarmament And The ABM

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Russians turned down the U.S. proposal for an end to the production of fissionable material for military purposes. Considering the record of disarmament negotiations, this need not be taken as a final turn down; several disarmament steps were initially rejected by one side or the other and later accepted. As has been pointed out in this column, freezing the production of nuclear explosives without taking other disarmament steps as well, would leave Russia at a distinct disadvantage. Only if the U.S. undertook not to build arms could the balance of terror remain at its present relatively stable state.

Here is some of the evidence, from an article published in the Foreign Affairs Quarterly by Harold Brown, Lyndon Johnson's secretary of the air force and a man nearer to the hawk than the dove position.

"We have striven to avoid any gap in our defenses that would permit even a single element of our forces to be largely destroyed before it could be launched. Even as the Soviets developed a Fractional Orbital Bombardment System (FOBS) that could bypass our older warning systems because it has a low trajectory, we quickly deployed over the horizon radars, previously developed, that could detect a FOBS launch and provide adequate warning. As the Soviets have increased the number and effectiveness of their missiles, we have begun development of harder silos that can withstand much closer nuclear explosions ...

"In addition to protecting against destruction of our weapons before launch, we have improved our offensive systems so that our surviving warheads would not be neutralized by improved Soviet defenses. As the Soviets have installed their Anti-Ballistic System (ABM), we have added penetration aids and are developing multiple warheads. As the Soviets have worked on more effective air defenses, we have begun development of the SRAM air to surface missile and we have continued preliminary work on aircraft technology needed for a new heavy bomber, and on penetration aids suitable for both current and future bombers ... At the present time, the strategic forces of both sides are roughly comparable in the sense that both can deter attack and neither side can launch an over-whelming first strike. Both sides have an adequate second strike capability."

There is other evidence that in addition the U.S. has 7,000 tactical nuclear weapons in Europe and more in other countries. Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird has admitted that the above picture is correct. The U.S. is now modifying its Polaris missiles to carry multiple warheads, each heading for a different target — four targets per missile, of a total of some 2,500 targets. Even if only one U.S. missile in a hundred got through, Russia's twenty-five largest cities could be wiped off the map and the most optimistic opponents of ABM systems say they will let through one tenth not one hundredth of the incoming rockets.

CANADA'S STORY

Heavy Drinking Led To Prohibition

By BOB BOWMAN

There was so much drinking in Canada about the time of confederation that strong temperance movements were organized. One of the leading heavy drinkers was Sir John A. Macdonald, and he was not ashamed of it. In fact on one occasion he staggered onto a platform to make a political speech and told the audience that he knew they preferred him drunk to George Brown sober!

Even before Confederation the parliament of Canada passed a Temperance Act in 1861 enabling municipalities to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor. Another somewhat similar act was passed in 1878, and a Royal Commission to investigate the liquor problem was appointed in 1892. Only one of its four members favored outright prohibition, and he submitted a minority report.

A general plebiscite was held in 1898 and 278,000 people voted for prohibition while 264,000 were opposed. All the provinces were strongly in favor of prohibition except Quebec which voted against it 122,000 to 28,000. However Prime Minister Laurier said the margin for prohibition was too narrow and refused to enact legislation.

There was prohibition during the last two years of First World War, except in Quebec. Most of the provinces retained prohibition for a time after the war. Ontario voted for prohibition as late as April 18, 1921, but gradually the system changed to government control except in Prince Edward Island which was dry until 1948. The only way the islanders could get liquor legally was by obtaining prescriptions from doctors. The doctors were kept very busy.

New Pinnacles Beaten By Sir Edmund Prove To Be On High Moral Plateau

AUCKLAND (CP) — Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Everest, Antarctic explorer and New Zealand national hero, is gaining a new reputation as a somewhat uncomfortable national conscience.

At the height of his fame as a mountaineer, Sir Edmund was widely tipped as a prospective member of Parliament. The general idea seemed to be that he would be a sure-fire vote-getter.

He did not enter politics but served notice of a new approach a couple of years ago with an outspoken criticism of morality in politics.

"Explicency and just plain dishonesty of utterance in government and politics are recorded in our newspapers every day," he said in a speech. He made a plea for "a little more honest-to-God morality into politics and government at all levels nationally and internationally."

Politicians who attacked him for his views came off much the worse in the exchanges. Since then, they have been wary in their dealings with him.

Nowadays Sir Edmund is representative for an American publishing organization. He still spends a good deal of time abroad on various exploration and outdoor projects. He has visited Nepal frequently to assist the Sherpa people who live near the base of Everest. He and his supporters have provided schools, health services, water supplies and other help.

HEADS YOUNG GROUP

For several years he has been president of Volunteer Service Abroad, the New Zealand equivalent of Canada's Company of Young Canadians.

These activities have led him into a new round of criticism of the government for the level of its spending on overseas aid.

New Zealand, he said in a series of recent speeches, was spending only .25 per cent of gross national product on foreign aid. It was simply not good enough.

He directed some personal shafts at Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake, who is also minister of external affairs, claiming that the prime minister appeared to be well satisfied with the aid situation.

Sir Edmund also criticized the tour of South Africa in 1970. The tour is being criticized by various groups in New Zealand as plans for a New Zealand rugby condoning apartheid.

Such views have inevitably aroused criticism in return. From being a national hero, Sir Edmund is tending to become a controversial figure, with reputation even higher among some sections but subject to attack by others.

As always, New Zealanders tend to become more aroused about rugby than other topics, and Sir Edmund's comments on the South African tour have drawn a good deal of fire.

Instant Solution Phoned Across

LOS ANGELES (AP) —

Youngsters with a hangup, be it sex or studies, pick up the telephone in Los Angeles and talk it out with adults—expert, sympathetic and anonymous.

The kids' private listening service is a surprising success.

Hot line has received an estimated 5,000 calls—an average of 18 to 20 a day—from boys and girls anxious to talk directly—and anonymously—with an adult about intimate problems.

Many parents and adults generally think their kids simply do not want to communicate," says Dr. Dale Garrold, director of the sponsoring Children's Hospital Adolescent Unit.

"Certainly this is not the case if the conditions, the atmosphere, are right."

Of the first 1,000 calls, about 20 per cent concerned boy-girl relationships, 17 per cent conflicts with parents and seven per cent had to do with drugs.

The staff of 30 listeners on hot line include graduate students, psychologists, doctors, lawyers and social workers—all screened and modestly paid. Other professional specialists in major fields are available.

BEGAN QUIETLY

The project began without public fanfare as pupils at four Los Angeles high schools were given small cards with this message:

"Are you a teen with a hangup? Call 666-1015. We're here to listen, 6 p.m. to 12 p.m. daily, 6 a.m. to 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday."

Gerald Bissiri, a staff psychologist on the project, thinks availability is the key.

"When young people need someone, they need them now," he says. "Tomorrow may be too late."

The callers are mostly girls. But none hangs up before he gets the problem off his chest.

Winfield WI Cancer Blitz Set For Second Week In May

WINFIELD (Special) — The Women's Institute at the monthly meeting made arrangements to hold the annual Cancer Blitz the second week in May. Receipt books were handed out and the institute members plan to call on every house in the district.

President Mrs. A. C. Hillaby was in the chair and the 13 members present opened the meeting by repeating the WI Collect and answered the roll call with a health hint.

The treasurer of the institute and the treasurer of the Winfield Calendar (the local news-sheet sponsored by the institute) both gave good reports.

The social, health and welfare committee took over the meeting following the adjournment. A social period during which refreshments were served concluded the evening.

ANN LANDERS

Adolescent's Problems Are Not Uncommon

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old boy with a problem. I don't seem to like girls. I date them but I have no interest in going steady or getting to know a girl really well.

In gym class I get nervous when I have to undress in front of other guys. And when I see them in the showers I feel uncomfortable, sort of a mixture of excitement and embarrassment.

Is there something wrong with me?

I realize my chances of getting a letter in your column are a million to one, but I do need help and I don't know where else to go. Please come to my rescue.—J. of Newark.

Dear J.: Although the thoughts and feelings you express are by no means uncommon among adolescents, the fact that you are so concerned indicates you need to discuss this problem with a professional. Most schools have competent counselors. I hope your school is among them. If not, go to a mental health clinic. Newark has some excellent services.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has been in prison for three years. I fell in love with another man after being alone for nearly 18 months. I let the other man move into my home and now we have a baby six months old. I'm sure my friends and family think we are married.

Who is the legal father of this child? If my husband wants to get off the support hook, can he do so on the grounds that he is sterile? (I am almost sure he is.) This is quite a mess and I need your help because my husband will be out of prison in a couple of months and I'm all mixed up about what's what. Thank you.—Absence Creates Problems.

Dear Ab: A man who has been in prison for three years could not have fathered a nine-month-old child even if he weren't sterile. Legally, however, your husband is the baby's father until he takes steps to prove otherwise. You need to see a lawyer.

Dear Ann Landers: Educate the dumb public, please. Tell people that simply because you live next door to a family does not mean you are bosom buddies. I've been asked to put the neighbor's fish in my refrigerator. I've been stuck with C.O.D. packages and 100 pounds of fertilizer. At Christmas time someone left a pan of potato kugel here for the neighbor and our dog got into it. I never heard the end of it.

If you print my letter you will be performing a national service. There must be others who feel as I do.—Not Palsy Walsy.

Dear Not: I'm sure there are, but I'll wager a great many folks don't mind doing small favors for their neighbors. Since your dog ate that potato kugel, perhaps your neighbors would prefer that you not do them any more "favors". So why don't you just say "Sorry—no."

Confidential to Opinion Needed: Paradise Now meant Jail Later for some of those actors who got carried away. Nudity is getting to be a big fat bore and I firmly believe that people will get sick of theatre garbage, movie trash, pornography—the whole rotten scene—and they will fade into oblivion.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS PRESENT CHEQUE

Providing equipment for the rehabilitation ward of the Kelowna Regional Hospital has been a project of the Knights of Columbus for the last six years. Recent donations will be used for the new rehabilitation ward. Presenting a cheque for $1,000 is J. F. Hromek, K of C treasurer, left.

OYAMA SOCIALS

Miss Dugate boarded the SS Canberra in Vancouver on April 12 and will visit San Francisco, Los Angeles, Balboa, Acapulco, Cristobal, Jamaica, Nassau, Ft. Everglades, Lisbon, LeHarve.

The Canberra will arrive in Southampton on May 8. Miss Dugate will tour Britain for two months, then with a group of others, she will travel by mini-bus.

The group will camp out at nights and they plan to visit Vienna, Athens, French Riviera, Amsterdam, Budapest, Copenhagen, Stockholm and Berlin. She will return by plane on Oct. 15 and plans to stop over in New York to visit with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Davis.

The 1st Oyama Girl Guide company increased in number on Wednesday, when four Brownies were presented their wings and "flew" into Guides.

Laura Black, Valerie Thomson, Muriel Graham, and Julie Sproule completed the requirements of the Brownie Pack and were welcomed into the senior group by company leader Colleen Sproule.

The remainder of the meeting was enjoyed by playing games and singing.

Beverly Trewhitt, Gold Cord guide, told the girls about her trip to Victoria. Several of the guides were presented with badges and service stars. The meeting concluded with a sing-song and taps.

This Bachelor Likes Children So Adopts 10

TORONTO (CP) — A bachelor who likes children, Paul Lindsay has "adopted" 10 of them through the Foster Parents Plan.

When 35 such parents met here recently for a social evening the Montreal investment counsellor was found to be one who had adopted the most kids. Mr. Lindsay has so many pictures of the children he is supporting in foreign countries that he carries them in a big binder.

The five boys and five girls range in age from four to 14 and live in 10 different countries. They cost him about $2,500 a year to support, counting gifts.

To provide the necessities of life for one child under the plan costs $17 a month or $204 a year.

"I live in a home with my folks," the 45-year-old bachelor said in an interview. "So really the money I spend on the children is money I would have to spend on rent if I were in an apartment."

War II Souvenir Worn By Bride

Baskets of yellow gladiolus, white carnations and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the First United Church, Kelowna for the afternoon wedding, April 5 of Muriel Jean Allan, Vancouver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Campbell Allan, Kelowna to Terrance Albert Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Smith, Burnaby. Dr. E. H. Birdsell conducted the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose white bonded lace in a simple A-line floor length style with peau de soie elbow length flared sleeves bordered with seed pearl-centered lace flowers. The train, also of peau de soie, was outlined with individual lace flowers. The short triple layered veil of nylon was held by a headress of silk organza flowers and pearl leaves in a tiara style. She carried a bouquet of yellow garnet roses and white staphanotis.

A three-tiered cake flanked by silver candle holders and lily of the valley centred a white lace cloth. The candles and lily of the valley decorations were used at the silver wedding anniversary of the groom's parents last fall and will have a part in the golden anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Gellatly, Okanagan Centre this summer.

Corsages were presented to Mrs. George Jacklin, grandmother of the groom and Mrs. Arthur F. Gellatly, grandmother of the bride. The bride's bouquet was caught by Noella Parent, Winnipeg and her garter was caught by Larry McKenzie. Pianist at the reception was Mrs. A. Campbell Wood. Arthur Burch was emcee. Terence Cather of Vancouver proposed the toast to the bride and Gordon Smith proposed the toast to the bridesmaids.

OUT OF TOWN Guests were: Terence Cather, Susan Jeffrey, Mrs. James Gellatly, Mr. and Mrs. George Jacklin, Patrick Dennitt, Alan Hull of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Smith, Burnaby; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Penner, Vernon; Mrs. John Weirand, Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. Graham Keddie, Port Moody; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Millar, North Surrey; Noella Parent, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Slobodian, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nix, Trochu, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Judy, Kevin, Craig and Mavis, Trail; Gail Johnson, Kim Scoullar, Penetion; Mrs. Ferne Jean, Mrs. Rae Walde, Mrs. David Gellatly, John Gellatly, Westbank; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Gellatly, Okanagan Centre.

QUALICUM BEACH Gordon Smith, the younger brother of the groom, of Winnipeg, was best man and other attendants were Ernest Under and Elmer Epp, both of Vancouver. For the reception at the Capri, the bride's mother chose an ensemble of lilac lace coat over skimmer of peau d' elegance. A lilac flowered hat and white accessories completed her costume.

Floor-length full skirts of deep turquoise moire taffeta accented by wide sashes knotted at the centre back were topped with ruffled long-sleeved white crepe blouses. They carried be-ribboned Victorian nosegays of white and yellow mums. Flowers fashioned from the same material as their skirts were tucked in the curls and swirls of their coiffures.

Fifth Anniversary Celebrated By Two Forester Lodges Here

The Canadian Order of Foresters celebrated their Fifth Anniversary of their Lodges, Court Ogopogo and Court Lady Capri with a delightful banquet and dance held at the Canadian Legion. Dinner was served by the ladies auxiliary of the Canadian Legion.

Guests attending were candidate, Susan Gauvin for the Lady of the Lake, guest speaker Dick Gunoff and out-of-town guests and members of Canadian Order of Foresters from Chilliwack.

A travelling gavel from the brother lodge in Chilliwack was given to the chief ranger, Lorne Gaulley.

A most enjoyable evening was spent by all who attended. A few other events coming up are: the annual drive for cancer by the members, swim and get-together at the Vernon pool, provincial bowling in Whalley, outing at the M-7 Ranch, golf for men and women, charity bowling, fishing derby, children's picnic, barbecue, Halloween dance, candy stocking drive in aid to cancer research, children's Christmas party and Christmas hamper, and New Year's dance.

GUM OKAYED MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gum chewing now is legal at Riviera Junior high school, one of the 14 changes in school rules sought by the 1,900 pupils and approved by the faculty. Principal Arthur L. Davis said the faculty rejected one request—that boys be permitted to attend classes sockless.

Behavioral abnormalities, he says, are detected in pre-school years—sometimes from birth. "There's agreement among those professionally concerned," he says, "that we have been picking up these problems too late."

ANNA AND THE KING OF SIAM A TRUE STORY

The King and I to be presented by the Kelowna Theatre Players April 22-26 at the Community Theatre is a musical adapted from a true-life story about an English school-teacher who went to Siam to teach English and democracy to a Siamese king, his children and his court. The influence of the strong-minded teacher brought about many reforms which until then, had never been heard of in an oriental court. In the first act, Anna, the teacher, arrives with her son and meets the formidable and barbaric guards of the king. She then meets the king and the king's children, who win her heart and make her decide to stay. Anna then proceeds to teach the children and wives of the king about the new world and its many civilized ways. At this time the English ambassador decides to visit the Siamese court as he has heard that it is barbaric and uncivilized and perhaps should be put under the protectorship of England. Anna is then asked to advise the king as he does not want to lose his kingdom. She advises the king to impress the English ambassador by having a European-style banquet, reception and dress ball. The king orders this to be done immediately. The second act starts as the wives of the king are dressing for the ball in western clothes and find them a great puzzlement. Anna teaches the king to dance in a western manner, and the entertainment for the ball is previewed. The English ambassador is impressed by the ball and especially by the play written by Tipton, the small house of Uncle Thomas all about slavery. However the king is not impressed and in a later scene shows his barbaric ways again and Anna decides to leave. Before she leaves Anna is told that the king is going to die and before dying the king asks Anna to stay and educate the crown prince. At the end of the act Anna assures the king she will stay. In the two pictures are the leading characters, Dianna Meakin as Anna, and Harold Pettman, as the king. The royal wives, back row, June Minchin, Kay Oliver, Lyn Lampman, Sarina Sandana, Rosalie Chalmers, Maryanne Runnalls; front, Haidee Sandana, Olive Brooks, Margaret Moisey, Marina Pettman.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Elizabeth Ashley and actor George Peppard have announced the break-up of their marriage. "We have some problems we cannot solve at this time," 29-year-old Miss Ashley and Peppard, 37, said in a joint statement Monday. They were married April 17, 1966, each for the second time, and have a son, Christian, one year old.

Get Smart's True Story A Cliff-Hanger

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If you're looking for a cliff-hanging adventure in television programming, consider the case of Get Smart.

No, I don't mean the on-the-tube capers of Agent 86, also known as Maxwell Smart, the fallible operative of CONTROL. I'm referring to the real-life feat of comedian Don Adams in saving his television series from cancellation. Like Smart, Adams was a most reluctant hero.

You'll be seeing Get Smart for a fifth year, but on a different network.

Adams related the sequence of events:

"NBC notified us three days before the deadline that they were going to let Get Smart go. But they wanted me to stay on and sign for specials next season and my own variety program the following year. It was a fantastic offer, and I was seriously considering it.

"I was in-between on Get Smart. In four years it had won a flock of Emmies, including two for myself, and I felt that it had made a real contribution to television comedy. I was ready to walk away from it and go on to producing and directing features, which I have long wanted to do."

On the other hand, he felt a loyalty to Get Smart.

RECEIVES OFFERS

News of the Get Smart cancellation swept through the executive offices of the networks. ABC came up with a reprieve offer, but it wasn't sweet enough. Then CBS made a proposal to take over Get Smart and back Adams's production company in developing projects.

In the pre-dawn hours before the NBC deadline, Adams spoke on the telephone with NBC's Herb Schlosser and CBS's Mike Dann. When the comedian finally went to sleep, he had decided to cast his lot with NBC.

"That morning I was awakened by a telephone call from the New York Times congratulating me for being on the CBS schedule, which was released that morning," said Adams. "What had happened was that my managers had met with CBS, which was able to come up with an immediate decision.

"NBC couldn't act that fast, and I would have lost my bargaining position if I had waited."

Now Adams is committed for three more years of Get Smart, a future that causes him to wince. "But a lot of time and effort and love have gone into that show," he added. "I'll stick with it."

COULD BE JAILED

LIMA (AP) — Depending on the lady, a wolf whistle or a sly wink could land a man in jail. The city council unanimously approved a decree making the propo a punishable offence if the lady it's directed at complains. A propo can be anything from an incandescent phrase to a friendly pat on the seat.

Saga Of Smothers Brothers Censorship Appears Over

TORONTO (CP) — The saga of the Smothers Brothers and the Columbia Broadcasting System appears to have run its course, over the issue of what the television comedy team calls censorship.

Tom Smothers, who describes himself as the "dumb" half of the team, was in Toronto recently to watch the televising on the CTV independent Canadian TV network of the brothers' controversial Easter Sunday show which was cancelled by the U.S. network.

Smothers told reporters the battle with CBS had been fought over the issue of censorship and the right to make "statements" on behalf of people "who are not represented on television."

The straw that broke the camel's back was the Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour show for Sunday, April 6. It was dropped in the United States by CBS, but shown across Canada on CTV.

It included some pointed references to John Pastore, the influential Democrat senator from Rhode Island, a brief satirical monologue by Canadian-born comedian David Steinberg and a "love duet" between Tom and Negro singer Nancy Wilson.

CANCELLED BY WIRE

Two days before air time, CBS-TV President Robert D. Wood sent Smothers a telegram cancelling the show and revoking the brothers' $4,500,000 contract for a new series to begin in the fall.

The telegram said the pre-taped show would have been "offensive"—especially on Easter Sunday and so soon after the funeral of the late president Eisenhower.

Smothers told reporters after watching the show on CTV's Toronto outlet that the team hadn't wanted "to offend an affiliate's viewers—say in the Bible Belt."

"But CBS keeps itself between the creative people and the affiliate stations, even though we've always been prepared to accede to an affiliate's requests for cuts."

Smothers feels the U.S. networks are becoming increasingly pro-establishment. He says he admires the degree of freedom given to the Canadian networks and was pleased that CTV has never cut a show—except to make room for commercials.

"If we could only run Canadian newscasts on Vietnam, we'd get a whole different point of view."

Smothers talks articulately about the need to avoid "authoritarian" tendencies in broadcasting, to give a balanced view of the peace movement, the crisis in the universities and the racial problem, and to prevent the networks censoring at will.

STYLE IS COOL

And all the time he talks in the cool, committed style of the young liberal intellectual—not in the strident tone of a doctrinaire New Left activist.

In his battle for "artistic freedom" Smothers has come up against some formidable opponents.

One of them is Senator Pastore, subject of some fun on the April 6 show at the hands of Dan Rowan, of rival NBC's Rowan and Martin Laugh-In.

Senator Pastore was chairman of the U.S. Senate hearings on sex and violence, as a result of which NBC and ABC, the third big U.S. network, agreed to allow inspection of program content by the National Association of Broadcasters under its code of good practices.

CBS insisted, however, that only itself and its affiliates had the right to determine program suitability.

Despite its concession on the code inspection, NBC—the National Broadcasting Co.—appears to have a winner with the Laugh-In show, while CBS's cancellation of the Smothers' similar effort, which has won high ratings for four years, leaves Columbia without an immediate matcher.

HONEYMOON ENDS

As far as Smothers is concerned, the four-year honeymoon is over, now the brothers are reported considering an offer from CTV.

Tom said he had had lengthy consultations with his lawyers about a possible suit against CBS for breach of contract, but this would have meant litigation—and consequently no TV exposure—for perhaps two or three years.

This was a risk the brothers decided they could not afford to take.

"It's not a question of money," said one of the Smothers associates, "it's the need to be heard."

Rich Russian Festival Wins Applause On Canadian Tour

MONTREAL (CP) — Billed as an extravaganza, the Russian festival of song, dance and music began its Canadian tour here before a capacity crowd at Place des Arts.

Highlights of the festival were Paitnitsky's chorus and dancers, the latter leaping and bounding as their traditional folk dances demanded.

Costumed in rich brocade, jeweled headresses and leather boots, the troupe spun, swirled, stabbed and kicked.

Forming a semi-circle around the troupe was the 50-member Red Banner state choir of M. E. Paitnitsky. The original choir dates back to the days of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution.

Their powerful voices soared through about 15 songs, including an ancient ballad, From Behind the Aisle as well as; You, My Russia; and Home on the Range.

Accompanying the choir in its two-hour performance was a small orchestra of accordions, balalaikas and wooden spoons.

Basso Boris Shtokelov, a leading singer at the Kirov Theatre of Pera in Leningrad, and Pavel Nechetormeko, a musical conductor and renowned balalaika player, also performed on the vast, black-draped stage.

Critic Frances Goltman of The Gazette said the state choir is "a well-trained ensemble" but the greatest applause of the evening was accorded to the puppet theatre of Natalia Stepanova and Sergei Vikulov, were "the essence of grace and technical excellence," Miss Goltman said.

Nechetormeko was a "virtuoso," a balalaika player "who cannot be surpassed."

"It is a tradition with the Russians to keep up their arts to the highest standard and last night they gave complete proof of this fact."

The Russians will move on to Sherbrooke, Quebec, Ottawa, London, Fort William, Toronto, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Calgary Edmonton and Victoria.

Toronto Sound Liked In Japan

TOKYO (Reuters) — Seiji Ozawa, Japanese conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, can take pride in the high standard of playing offered by the well-disciplined musical group, a music writer of the English-language Asahi Evening News says.

The orchestra, in opening the Osaka international festival in western Japan with a concert Monday night, received an ovation from the capacity audience.

"Ozawa's stage posture is generally calm while his command of the orchestra is complete, as become apparent as soon as he started conducting Wagner's Meistersinger Prelude," the writer, Hans E. Fringsheim, says.

"With very economical use of his hands—much of the time the right hand only—Ozawa can draw the full volume from his orchestra, and the Toronto Symphony does have very much volume of sound."

Cowboy Films 'Not Really Success Story'

TORONTO (CP) — Ratch Wallace is one Canadian actor who doesn't see success as starring in "a bunch of cowboy movies."

He has turned down a valuable contract with Universal Films because "I don't want to get foisted into parts I don't want to play."

"I haven't a contract with anybody," he says, adding that other rising young actors like Dustin Hoffman also stay clear of long-term contracts to avoid being tied up and limiting their opportunities.

And Ratch is rising. The 24-year-old actor, with an ebullient manner matching his cascade of blonde curls, has had parts in both of rising producer Paul Almond's films. In Isabel, he was the "Gaspé-accent" boy who raped Genevieve Bujold.

He also co-starred in the CBC-TV Festival production That Summer, That Fall, and has been up for parts in three major American films.

How does he do it? "Got a great agent."

Ratch didn't act professionally until he was 19, and could stand only three days of acting lessons. Experience has been his teacher.

He telephoned Toronto's Crest Theatre a few years ago and said: "I am an actor and I'm going to starve if you don't hire me." They did, although he admits that in his audition "I read three lines like I was turning a doorknob—cra-a-nk."

Ratch says he now is going through "my town house period."

"I'm finding out I don't know anything. I'm trying to learn something instead of just acting and celebrating all the time."

"I bought a book about how to write songs, and I'm writing songs. I'm hoping to go to the London Academy of Dramatic Arts next year. Classical training makes it a little easier, gives you some technique."

Only Old-Timers Regret Academy Awards Change

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There were grumbles from Motion Picture Academy oldtimers who said of last Monday's Oscar show: "It wasn't like it used to be." To which most observers would comment: "Thank heaven."

Gower Champion's masterminding of the 41st awards show brought Oscar into the jet age at long last. Gone was the musty, fussy tradition that had made the Academy broadcast one of the great yawns of the year.

At the Oscar Ball after the telecast, Academy President

Gregory Peck was complimented on the streamlined presentation.

"Wait till next year," he said with a twinkle.

Peck has hopes of making the show even more appealing. He also is going ahead with plans to re-examine Academy membership, with the aim of making the awards more reflective of real achievement in the film world.

This week's winners again underscored the need for change. Many observers questioned whether Oliver deserved to be the top winner.

This movie-goer found Oliver to be the most entertaining film of 1968. But as cinematic achievements, The Lion in Winter and Romeo and Juliet seemed far more deserving of the best-picture award.

The Academy voters, the majority in the over-50 age class, seem to favor movies that entertain.

Oscar never fails to provide at least one surprise each year.

This time it was the Katharine Hepburn-Barbra Streisand tie.

There was no question about the legitimacy of this year's tie. But a cloud remains over the previous one.

In 1932, balloting was much more informal, and the word got around town that Fredric March had won as best actor for Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Wallace Beery thought he should win for The Champ and he expressed his feelings to his boss, Louis B. Mayer.

As a founder of the Academy and perhaps the most powerful man in Hollywood, Mayer could move mountains—or the Academy. A tie between March and Beery was announced at the Academy banquet that year.

Ottawa-Born Woman Has Role Of Substance On U.K.'s TV

LONDON (CP) — Canada's influence in shaping British television, already marked by a string of expatriate producers, has established a foothold in a new field—women's programs.

Ottawa-born Elizabeth Cowley, 38, who has worked in TV here for 10 years, moved into her new job Tuesday as the first producer in charge of planning women's programs on the commercial Thames TV network.

Miss Cowley, who is married to BBC producer Michael Barnes and has two daughters aged four and two, immediately began work on a pilot program to be called High Noon. Scheduled for screening at lunchtime, it will blend news developments with feature items on consumer goods, fashion and other topics.

"I want the program to reflect the fact that the worlds of men and women are moving closer together," Miss Cowley said in an interview.

"Up till now, TV for women has been either non-existent or old-fashioned."

She thinks her Canadian influence may contribute a sense of humor to the program, something after the style established here by Vancouver-born Bernard Braden.

One aspect of the new program planning will be a large organization to answer viewers' letters.

"I am quite determined to answer every letter we receive. We will try to deal with all sorts of problems from babies to insurance matters and through to agony column queries."

Another of her ideas is to have fashions presented as a theatrical entertainment by a small repertory company.

Miss Cowley, previously in charge of a nightly magazine program called Today, came to Britain 15 years ago.

As a child, the daughter of Air Vice-Marshal A. T. Cowley, a veteran pilot of both world wars, she moved around the country constantly with her parents, ending up with a cross-Canada education. She attended 14 different schools in Calgary, Regina, Winnipeg, Victoria and Ottawa as well as the University of British Columbia.

The go-ahead for the new women's TV slot is expected in the autumn when Postmaster-general John Stonehouse approves an extension of television viewing hours.

Most Campuses Like Hollywood

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — Go to any college campus, anywhere in Canada, at any time of the year—and you're likely to find a group of film makers working with a minimum of experience, a shoestring budget and a basic 16-millimetre camera.

The McMaster University Film Board is a little more enthusiastic—and a little more professional—than most.

It has already achieved a certain renown among underground film-makers with Palace of Pleasure, a kaleidoscopic color short made several years ago.

And one of this year's crop, a 30-minute short called Orientation, has "interested" 20th-Century Fox, says director Ivan Reitman, the board's ex-president.

The film stars Dan Goldberg, the Film Board's current president, as a freshman who meets a beautiful girl and chases her around with a camera.

"Fox is interested, but we have to blow it up to 35-millimetre color for commercial distribution—and that costs $40,000," says Reitman. "But we'll get the money."

Another of this year's productions, a short called Walk On, has been selected by CBC-TV for a new series called New Film Makers.

Walk On, made for about $400, is based on the plight of a young student who never gets his girl.

This summer the Film Board plans to make three short color films, with money raised by showing horror movies to students.

"This year we have $12,000 and we're going to buy more equipment," says Reitman. "We want a tape recorder and a sound-synchronized camera."

Princess Margaret chats with actor Omar Sharif, left, at the royal charity premier of the film Mackenna's Gold at the Odeon theatre, London. Looking on in centre is American actor Tully Savalas.

Canadian Musical A Change From Usual London Shows

LONDON (CP) — The Canadian musical Anne of Green Gables has captivated London critics who feared it might be too sugary for sophisticated tastes but ended by hailing it as a refreshing change from the pervading swamp of sex.

"Anne of Green Gables is as wholesome as Aunt Jemima Buckwheatcakes and as sweet as maple syrup, but I suspect it is going to appeal to a public well beyond mere Mary Poppins fanciers—I enjoyed it hugely," says Financial Times critic John Higgins.

"There is a considerable sentimental appeal about the whole folksy piece . . . rather a nice change from the usual snide and ugly fare," says Philip Hope-Wallace of The Guardian.

Daily Mail critic Peter Lewis says the musical, adapted by the Toronto team of Norman Campbell and Donald Harron from the Prince Edward Island classic by Lucy Maud Montgomery, has the "sort of innocent charm of lost childhood for which I suspect even jaded sophisticates have . . . a secret weakness."

"In these days when musicals are more apt to celebrate sex and pot, the sheer wholesomeness of such an idea has a perversely original appeal," adds Lewis.

The production at the New Theatre in the heart of London's West End is laced with talent from Toronto. Actress Barbara Hamilton, making her London debut as Anne's tight-lipped guardian, gets bouquets from several critics — "a peach of a performance," says The Times. Masterminding the show is Bill Freedman, also of Toronto, who produced Hadrian VII, the sleeper that turned into a smash hit both sides of the Atlantic.

The reviews are mixed with a few tart touches. Daily Telegraph critic Eric Shorter says the red-headed British actress Polly James, who plays the title role, introduces "where she can a note of asstringence to offset the sicklier sentimentality of the show." If there is such a thing as period Commonwealth charm, he says, this "sugary confection of bouncing naïvete exudes it with delicacy and candor."

"This is undoubtedly the cleanest show in London," Shorter concludes. He also found the dialogue dull, though CBC producer Campbell's music had "a tuneful vitality."

SAVED THE EVENING
"Wholesome" is the way The Daily Express and Daily Mirror sum up the show. Herbert Kretzmer of The Express says what might have been a mawkish evening was "saved over and over again by the sheer expertise with which the show has been mounted."

The mass-circulation Mirror acclaims the return of the family show as "very welcome."

David Nathan of The Sun, tempted to make fun of it all, admits "the thing works in its own weird way."

He found that Harron and Campbell's music and lyrics "tapped a genuine innocence, though it does become relentless, if not downright oppressive, towards the end."

"At the very least," concludes Nathan, "the show is a refuge from busts, buttocks and hair."

Hello Dolly! Not A Shelfer

HOLLYWOOD (Reuters) — Twentieth Century Fox's $22,000,000 production of Hello, Dolly! which technically cannot be released until the Broadway show version closes, will not sit on the shelf no matter what the contract says, informed sources here report.

Under the contract for the movie rights, the studio agreed that the film version would not be released until June, 1971, or until the stage show closes, whichever came first. But the sources say that 20th is proceeding with plans to exhibit the smash musical as its big Christmas offering this year.

Theatre owners all over the world are negotiating for bookings of the movie, which stars Barbra Streisand and which the studio expects to break all-time box office records.

The shooting for the film has been completed.

Producer Richard Zanuck has viewed a rough version of Dolly and was reported delighted with every aspect of it—except for making interest payments on the studio's $22,000,000 investment himself instead of from the box office receipts.

Meanwhile, in New York, David Merrick, producer of the stage version and holder of the contract which restricts the release date of the movie, has been threatening to keep the Broadway Dolly running at least until June, 1970.

The clash of interests could send Hello Dolly! into a road show appearance in the courts.

Merrick has been keeping the Broadway version alive by injecting new cast after new cast, the latest being Pearl Bailey and an all-Negro company.

Cinderella Now Is Ali

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood has a new Cinderella every season, and this year's Cinderella is Ali MacGraw.

All is the Manhattan fashion model who was picked from more than 100 aspirants, many of them well-known actresses, to play the lead of Brenda in the film version of Phillip Roth's prize-winning book, Goodbye, Columbus.

"I still find the situation incredible," she said, speaking of her debut as a star. "I thought I had been passed over several times. I wasn't even among the first four who were selected to be sent to Hollywood for film tests."

But she survived the winnowing, and if the picture achieves its predicted box-office success, the future looks bright indeed.

However, Ali—a family abbreviation for Alice—is one Cinderella who isn't swept off her feet by the glamor of it all. She calls herself an incurable romantic, but she might be more aptly termed a practical idealist.

"What impels me most is simply the fantastic sensation of being alive. I'm not hedonistic in a frenzied way. But every single solitary thing in life interests me."

Miss MacGraw is a sprightly young lady, gazelle slender, five feet eight inches tall, with dark shoulder-length hair and eloquent dark eyes. Her long, tapering fingers are eloquent, too, and she keeps her hands in almost constant movement as she speaks.

Behind her dramatic beauty lies a fine brain. Daughter of a father and mother who work as commercial artists, she herself is a talented artist, a graduate of Wellesley College, and can speak French, Italian and Russian.

"In college I didn't know what I wanted to do," she remarked. "I liked—and still like—to do a lot of things."

"I became a fashion assistant at a woman's magazine, but the excitement wore off quickly. I decided I didn't want to spend my life working with 75 women hung up on how they looked."

Ali then became a stylist and researcher for Melvin Sokolsky, the commercial photographer, where her duties ranged from authenticating backgrounds to ironing the hair ribbons for models. Then she became a model herself, working for both television and magazines. In her spare time she took acting lessons and continued her language studies.

"Modelling is a good field," she said, "because you can do very little of it and earn enough to pay your skeletal costs and still have time left to do everything you really want to."

Some Protests At Show's End

TORONTO (CP) — Complaints have come to the CBC from across Canada over the corporation's decision to drop Don Messer's Jubilee this fall after 10 years on CBC TV.

A CBC spokesman said today the Toronto switchboard has received about five calls since Monday's announcement and about 30 letters bearing more than 200 signatures. Two-thirds came from Ontario viewers, some from Saskatchewan and Alberta and one from British Columbia.

He said no complaints have been received yet from the Maritimes. The program was produced in Halifax.

The half-hour show will be replaced by Singalong Jubilee, a summer replacement since 1961. Doug Nixon, director of entertainment programming for the CBC English-language network, said the change is intended "to provide a program with a younger look and younger orientation."

A WILD PRINCESS

Teen-aged Princess Anne of Great Britain paid a surprise visit to the American musical show Hair in London, England, and wound up dancing on stage with the hippie cast. "She was fantastic, really wild," said company manager Peter Kendal.

The largest TV contract ever signed was one for $35,000,000 for a five-year series by Jerry Lewis in 1963.

Don't Try Classifying Mike With Other Movie Stars' Kids

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Add Michael Douglas to the ever-growing list of movie stars' children who are making it in films. But don't try to classify him with the others.

"I didn't grow up in Beverly Hills, thank God," says the 24-year-old son of Kirk Douglas. "I could think of nothing worse than growing up in the richest city in the richest state in the richest country in the world."

"How could you possibly preserve any sense of reality?" Michael Douglas is indeed a free-thinking lad. He speaks with disarming frankness about flunking out of college, about dabbling in narcotics, etc. He is his own man, as Hollywood is discovering.

He also is an instant star, thanks to the recent CBS Playhouse drama, The Experiment. He drew good notices from the telecast, as he did in a recent off-Broadway play, City Scenes. Now he is starring with Arthur Kennedy and Teresa Wright in his first film, Hail, Hero, which concerns father-son differences over long hair, Vietnam and other elements of the generation gap.

Mike wears his brown hair long, though he appears to have passed through the hippie stage. That happened in his university days.

"I had been attending a prep school in the east, and the natural progression would have been for me to go on to Yale," he related. "But I was ready for a change, as big a change as possible."

"I heard about the University of California at Santa Barbara, which had four girls for every man, a beautiful campus on the ocean, surfing, and all that. That was for me."

Mike went the whole route: Guru, pot, LSD. His experience with narcotics proved worthwhile, he believes, "because it taught me about rhythm in living."

Theatre Firm To Follow Law

OTTAWA (CP) — An attempt by Famous Players to reorganize its broadcasting holdings in Canada and come within the limits of government strictures against foreign ownership was vetoed Thursday by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission.

The CRTC, in effect, left the U.S.-controlled company in a position where it will have to sell up to $10,000,000 worth of holdings by Sept. 1, 1970.

Holdings of Famous Players Canadian Corp. affected by the decision include a half-interest in two Quebec City TV stations, a similar interest in the television station and two radio stations in Kitchener, and ownership slices ranging from less than 25 per cent up to 80 per cent in a string of cable TV systems from Montreal to the West Coast.

In denying the application for a corporate revamping, the CRTC made two main points.

—It was not convinced that setting up a new company to pool the resources of Famous Players and its 20-odd Canadian broadcasting partners would really reduce the ownership and control Famous Players would wield.

—Famous Players and its partners had "failed to convince" the CRTC that the group's policies would help safeguard and strengthen the country's social, political, cultural and economic fabric.

The Famous Players application was to set up a company called Teltron Communications Ltd. Under it, Famous Players and its Canadian partners were to pool their resources, drawing voting shares in Teltron to cover their respective contributions to the pool. About a quarter of the voting shares, valued at about $8,000,000, were to be offered to the public on stock exchanges.

Black Theatre Outlined In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A little-known art form, Black Theatre, is the subject of a series of lectures being given to the Vancouver Guild of Puppetry by Coad of Canada Puppets.

Black Theatre presents the puppets and actors in a screen of light. The area is lit by vertical banks of lights shuttered down to make a curtain of light which can be as small as six square inches in size.

The purpose is to allow the puppeteer more freedom of movement. The normal puppet stage is done away with and the puppeteers are hidden only by the blackness behind the scene of light.

The Coad of Canada Puppets, Luman and Arlyn Coad, learned the techniques in Europe.

"Black Theatre is used very little in Canada and the United States, but for puppeteers, it is a tremendous way of developing new techniques and improvisation," Mr. Coad says.

DRIFTING APART

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — The trip between Africa and Australia will be a centimetre longer next year than now because the continents are drifting apart, a French scientist reported here. Rolan Schlich of the French National Council for Scientific Research said the figure was determined by a study of the Indian Ocean seabed.

Mannix Just Made It Back

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The television networks have overreacted to the outcry against violence, says Mike Connors, whose Mannix-series has been profoundly affected by the curbs on rugged action.

Connors, as the hard-bitten private sleuth Mannix, will be back for a third season on CBS, but he says the show almost didn't make it.

"I was never in doubt that we would be renewed, as far as the ratings were concerned," he commented. "Mannix held its own in the first season and then took off like a rocket in its second season."

"But, despite the ratings, I feared that the show would be cancelled as a gesture to impress the Federal Communications Commission and the Milton Eisenhower commission on violence."

While not defending violence in television, Connors believes that the campaign against it has reached absurd proportions.

"All right, so you want to remove all violence from television," he said. "That means no more football; what could be more violent than knocking a halfback six feet in the air?"

"No more boxing matches. Consider the violence of two men trying to beat each other's brains out, and for what purpose? To make money. At least the fistfights on Mannix have a more worthwhile reason: The triumph of good over evil."

"And if you're going to do away with all violence on the home screen, that means no more news shots of campus demonstrations. And no more coverage of the war in Vietnam."

Connors admitted that Mannix bordered on violence during its first season, which featured a rubber-hose beating and other bits of strong action. But all that was changed in the crack-down that followed the assassinations of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Robert F. Kennedy.

TV Olympics Cost $13 Million

MUNICH (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co. will pay $13,500,000 for the television rights to the 1972 summer Olympic Games in Munich, a spokesman for the Olympic organizing committee disclosed today.

The spokesman said the contract between the Munich Olympic organizing committee and ABC includes $7,500,000 for the exclusive rights for broadcast in the United States, plus $6,000,000 for costs involved in the actual production.

The contract still must be approved by the organization committee's executive board and the International Olympic Committee.

A Tricky Thing For King Lear As He Doesn't Suit Celluloid

AALBORG, Denmark (AP) — Under the leaden skies of Danish winter, director Peter Brook surveyed the weirdest of landscapes and Paul Scofield walked, "every inch a king," to the weirdest of castles as an Anglo-Danish movie team set out to do what so far had been given up as nearly impossible: putting William Shakespeare's King Lear onto celluloid.

Produced by two Danish film companies, financially supported by Denmark's government-sponsored Film Foundation, acted by a mixed cast of Danish and British actors and supervised by Lord Birkett of the Royal Shakespeare Company, the $1,000,000 budget King Lear fulfilled one of Brook's fondest dreams.

And the Shakespearean director was perfectly confident he had done the right thing when deciding to do it in Denmark.

"I directed the play on the stage, but all the time I wanted to make a movie of it. But for five years all my planning centred on the fact that I could not find the right location," Brook said.

Only when invited over last year by the two co-producing Danish companies and taken to Raabjerg Mile, a few square miles of sand dunes near the northernmost tip of Jutland and the nearest thing to a desert in Denmark, did Brook find what he looked for. Not only the landscape, it turned out. Also the people.

PEOPLE REFLECT DRAMA

In the faces of North Jutland fishermen and farmers, Brook saw something he considers indispensable as a backdrop to Shakespeare's timeless drama as the desolate, unchanging land and the dark, weather-bitten castle now put up there for the shooting.

Commanding some 150 extras who will populate the castle, ride big, Danish horses and silently witness the old king's tragedy, the British director recalled that Shakespeare is, in fact, presumed to have modelled his Lear on a legendary, Nordic king named Leir. So, historically, it may make as much sense to place King Lear in North Jutland as to place Prince Hamlet in Elsinore.

Brook ruled out colors for this film—Shakespeare's story is a black-white story; his persons are black or white, good or bad—and the sound track will have no music—only the silence of the big, brooding castle and the landscape, or the voices ringing under low ceilings or in the emptiness of the cold, damp dunes.

French stage architect George Wakhewitch designed the castle, which is, in fact, two castles in one and certainly like no other castle seen anywhere. It will serve first as Gloucester's castle, then be slightly modified to serve as Goneril's castle. Of Lear's own castle only interiors have been put up in a big fair hall here.

Costumes, mainly of reindeer hides, were designed by Adele Aenggaard, the Royal Shakespeare Company's chief costume designer, who ruled out such fancies as horned helmets and "other romantic nonsense."

The Royal Shakespeare Company also provides the bulk of the cast. Oscar-winning Paul Scofield (A Man For All Seasons) plays the title part, and Brook willingly admits that there is probably no other part more difficult to play than Lear's. Irene Worth plays Goneril, the daughter whom Lear favors, but who betrays him. Annelise Gabold, a young Danish actress, is Cordelia, the faithful daughter, whom Lear sends away, and British actress Susan Engel is Regan.

Film history records only one earlier attempt to film the play, and that was way back in 1912 when an Italian company turned out a 17-minute King Lear.

EARNED QUICKLY

The film Goldfinger, the third in the series of films based on series of James Bond by Ian Fleming, grossed $10,300,000 in its first 14 weeks in the United States.

This Is How Blues Learned

TORONTO (CP) — Huddie (Leadbelly) Leadbetter is dead; Louis Armstrong is famous; B. B. King is rich, but Lonnie Johnson, the man who led these jazz musicians in starting the blues, is none of these.

He is alive, recovering from a car accident in Toronto, broke after 66 years as a professional and all but unknown after making more than 700 records since 1925.

Johnson has been playing the blues, recording his ups and downs, since he was born, on Rampart Street in New Orleans in 1889. His last few jobs before the accident were in Toronto clubs.

Johnson says he has always

Caracas Show Is Government

CARACAS (AP) — President Rafael Caldera is putting his "government of change" where everyone can see it—on television.

Caldera, Venezuela's first president from the Social Christian party, is rapidly becoming the most televised chief executive in Latin America. By the time he took office March 11 Caldera had been seen on television more times than any previous political candidate in Venezuelan history. He apparently intends to keep that up.

The 54-year-old father of six, three times unsuccessful in presidential campaigns, used television to help him squeeze out a narrow victory over the incumbent Accion Democratica party.

His inauguration, of course, was televised. So were most of the ceremonies that went along with it.

Now Caldera has started a weekly "dialogue with the people" to keep Venezuelans informed of what his government is doing.

Appliance Costs "Could Be Less"

VANCOUVER (CP) — Appliance costs in Canada could be cut by using something like the Canada-U.S. vehicle manufacturing system, Harold F. Linder, U.S. ambassador to Canada, said Thursday.

He said the specialization system in vehicle manufacturing has benefitted Canada and "I hope, pe an,ing; feasible, the same approach could be applied to other fields, such as major appliances."

Mr. Linder, economist and one time head of the U.S. Import-Export Bank, was to visit Victoria today and fly from there to Calgary Saturday on tour.

had trouble with money and women.

"When you got money and a woman, they's got both hands and both feet in your pockets, and when they step out of 'em, boy, they ain't much left.

"All my money got destroyed.

"In Europe I was making $505 a week and when I come back somebody had to send money for me to get home. I couldn't get from New York to Philadelphia and the fare was only $7.

"I have given and given till I haven't got anythin' left, but I don't complain, I just keep on goin'.

"If you don't have them troubles you don't know how to sing the blues with feeling."

Mr. K Marks Birthday In Obscurity, Silence

This week's World Spotlight reports how Nikita Khrushchev, for 11 years leader of the Soviet Union, has become an "unperson," a term of alcohol problems in Sweden and mentions possible turmoil in the Dominican Republic.

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev, whose voice once commanded the councils of peace and war, marked his 75th birthday Thursday in oblivion and silence.

As for the last few years, a few old friends probably called at his comfortable country home, and his children and grandchildren gathered for a family party. No public mention of the birthday was made. Khrushchev's name has been missing from the Soviet press since he was toppled from the Soviet leadership in October, 1964.

His volumes of speeches have been removed from libraries. The latest history texts published for Communist party members gloss over his lively 11-year reign without mention of his name.

Khrushchev has become what Kremlinologists call an unperson—a once prominent personality stripped of any public attention.

The obscurity is undoubtedly a strain for an extrovert who once clearly enjoyed the attention and contact with people that came with his position of power.

By most standards his life is a comfortable one. The roomy dacha set aside for him and his wife 15 miles west of Moscow is staffed with servants. Extensive grounds permit Khrushchev to indulge his gardening hobbies.

Guard at the gate bars unauthorized visitors.

No Westerners are authorized and, with Soviet authorities determined to forget him, authentic details of his lonely life in retirement are skimpy.

To help while away the time, Khrushchev apparently has taken up photography.

Khrushchev ritually appears on election days to vote in Moscow near the city apartment that he rarely, if ever, occupies. Foreign correspondents and curious Russians gather to watch him come and go, to assess his health and catch brief answers to their questions about his present life.

Last summer he made an unheralded appearance at a trade fair in Moscow's Sokolniki Park.

In one public appearance, Khrushchev brushed off a suggestion that he might be writing his memoirs. "Who would publish them?" he asked. Khrushchev beat down one attempt to unseat him in 1957, but the end finally came in 1964.

Charged with hare-brained schemes, economic bungling, power hunger and a host of other faults, he was forced to resign and accept the oblivion to which the collective group of his opponents shunted him.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — In Sweden a company is bragging about reducing its sales.

This is part of an official temperance policy to change the drinking habits of the Swedes and stem the use of alcohol among the youth.

Nya Systembolaget, the state-owned monopoly which runs all the retail outlets for spirits, wines and strong beers, is happy because its liquor sales dropped sharply in 1968.

Its advertisement says: "Even we, whose cash registers suffered, think that's wonderful. Keep it up in 1969."

Drunkness and alcoholism are among the greatest social problems in Sweden. Heavy drinking is commonly referred to as a national disease.

Why is there heavy drinking in the welfare society, where the state, theoretically at least, is well-equipped to combat the social and personal disorganization which often takes the form of alcohol addiction?

Doctors and social workers cite a rising standard of living. "The rise in our standards has brought with it a demand for unessential goods, and alcohol is one of them," commented Goesta Nordstrom, chief of the temperance bureau in the government's social welfare department.

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — After a three-year outbreak of peace, political turmoil is coming back to the restless Dominican Republic.

The battle lines are being drawn for next year's presidential elections.

The focal point of pre-election agitation is a pending decision by President Joaquin Balaguer on whether he'll seek re-election.

A consensus here is that his choice will decisively influence future political developments in the country, still quaking from the effects of the 1965 civil war.

There's a nearly instinctive suspicion of "continualism"—continuation in office—among many Dominicans fearful of a return of the despotic tyranny they suffered for 31 years under Rafael Trujillo.

There are also many affluent and influential Dominicans who privately believe the country needs a dictator to push ahead.

Backed by substantial United States aid, Balaguer has brought a measure of political stability and economic confidence to the country since he became president in mid-1966.

Go North . . . Young Doctors

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Liberal MP Len Marchand of Kamloops-Cariboo Wednesday urged young doctors to go north for the first years of their practices.

In a speech to the Scientific Session for British Columbia Family Physicians, Mr. Marchand said graduates just out of medical school could go to the Yukon and Northwest Territories for work sabbaticals as a way of meeting the manpower shortage in remote regions.

He noted there are only 27 private and public doctors in the two territories for a total population of 48,000 persons over 1,500,000-square miles.

"That's an awfully small number of doctors for such a large area," he said. "The ones that are there are as busy as they can be."

Mr. Marchand said doctors couldn't make a living in the north because of the great distances and sparse populations but suggested the B.C. Medical Association look into ways of subsidizing volunteers who go north for a period of time.

Peer's Gain, Labor's Loss

LONDON (Reuters) — The government Thursday dropped its plan for a sweeping reform of the House of Lords in order to push ahead with equally controversial strike-curbing laws.

The move, announced in Parliament by Prime Minister Wilson, was welcomed by critics in the ruling Labor and the Opposition Conservative parties whose filibuster tactics have delayed progress on the Lords reform measure.

Wilson told the Commons the government is abandoning the measure for the time being to make room in the parliamentary timetable for anti-strike laws.

The House of Lords bill, a major constitutional measure, envisaged the abolition of a two-tier system of voting and non-voting peers. The upper chamber's permanent dominance by landed, conservative gentry would be broken by giving the government of the day a built-in majority of peers appointed for life only.

The government had hoped to make it law by the end of this year.

Short Range Promising

At short range, the economy looks promising. But economic growth has lurched barely ahead of the 3.6 per cent annual birth rate increase.

Balaguer's performance as elected president has not fully erased the image of him as a long-time servant of Trujillo. This and the return to political eminence of other Trujillo collaborators in the present administration have nourished suspicion of the regime's ultimate designs.

The prevailing view is that Balaguer will opt for another term and that this may set the stage for another round of Dominican-style violence.

There are strong indications that Balaguer's candidacy would polarize most opposition forces, including substantial and well-armed antagonistic elements.

Three other men are regarded as certain candidates: Auguste Lora, the vice-president who is known to be at odds with Balaguer and leads the maverick wing of the president's Reformist party; Hector Garcia-Godoy, ambassador to Washington who shaped the nation's post-revolution course as provisional president; Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, militant anti-Communist favorite of the country's far rightists.

Of these, Garcia-Godoy, a lawyer-diplomat, appears to be the most formidable contender, with strong support among moderate rightists and leftists.

Frightened Girls Take Knives When Going Out In Ypsilanti

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Frightened co-eds at two universities have armed themselves with switchblade knives, tear-gas sprays or other protective devices while authorities investigate the killings of five girls.

The latest victim—who also was the youngest—was 13-year-old Dawn Basom, a junior high school student in Ypsilanti.

Her body, stripped to a blouse and brassiere, was found Wednesday on a rural road four miles north of Eastern Michigan University. An electric cord was wrapped around her throat and eight-inch-long gashes were carved on her chest and stomach.

Since August, 1967, the bodies of two Eastern Michigan co-eds, one University of Michigan co-ed, a 16-year-old girl and the Basom girl have been found within a radius of less than 10 miles.

Co-ed hitch-hiking to and from the campus has virtually ended, said women students at both Eastern Michigan and the University of Michigan, which is in Ann Arbor, six miles west of Ypsilanti.

Most co-eds said they have adopted a "buddy system" of walking either with a male friend or with at least three other girls when venturing out at night.

The Basom girl apparently was walking alone when she disappeared Tuesday.

A truck driver spotted her body at 6:30 a.m. the next day. She apparently had not been raped, said Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey.

Last March 25, the nude body of 16-year-old Marilyn Skelton of Romulus was found in a secluded section of Ann Arbor near the University of Michigan campus. A garter belt was wrapped around her neck, she had been beaten severely about the face and she had been sexually violated.

Four days earlier, on March 21, the body of Jane Mixer, a 22-year-old Michigan law school student, was found in a cemetery near Denton, northeast of Ypsilanti. She had been shot several times in the head.

Her body, lying on a tombstone, was fully clothed and she had not been raped.

Children should be protected against smallpox, tetanus (lockjaw) and poliomyelitis.

ALJE REPORTS

Star Looms For Canada

By ALJE KAMMINGA

IN RECENT YEARS, Canadian athletes have been approaching a standard equal to that attained by other countries several years before. The over-all achievements of these athletes has yet to approach a consistent rating but our Nancy Greenes and Elaine Tanners have brought a fair share of glory to Canada.

Now another top star is looming on the horizon. Debbie Brill of Haney, British Columbia, could easily equal Nancy's and Elaine's achievements in her particular field, track and field.

Canadian Press gives this intimate look at the girl, what she plans for the future and her thoughts of the Brill Band, the unique style of jumping much like Dick Fosbury's famous Fosbury Flop:

DEBBIE BRILL, at 16, one of Canada's brightest prospects for the 1972 Summer Olympic Games, smiles wistfully when she recalls how she missed by a hair's breadth a berth on the 1968 national team.

A winsome student at Garibaldi secondary school in this Fraser Valley community, Miss Brill is the Canadian women's high jump champion.

She won the title last summer at the national track and field championships in Toronto with a jump of five feet, six inches—an inch short of the women's Olympic standard. Although her performances had been improving continually all year—she improved her indoor mark by 3 1/4 inches and her own outdoor standard by three inches—it was decided not to include her among the country's Olympic competitors.

A FEW WEEKS later she took part in a track meet in Victoria and cleared the bar at five feet, 7 1/4 inches—a quarter-inch over the Olympic standard. The next day Canada's team left for Mexico City.

Miss Brill says she wasn't bitter about the team's decision and now is looking forward to the 1972 Games. In the interim, she bettered her indoor mark to an amazing five feet, eight inches and is in hot pursuit of the national open mark of five feet, nine inches.

"I want to be the best woman jumper in the world," she said with a determined look. "I want to hold the world record both indoors and out, and I want to win the high jump at the 1972 Olympic Games."

SHE HAS ABOUT five inches to go. The world outdoor record is six feet, three inches; the indoor mark is six feet, 1 1/4 inches.

She has evolved a unique style of jumping called the "Brill bend" by her coach, Pete Swenson, a Swedish decathlon champion in the 1920s.

Miss Brill said she took a liking to jumping at elementary school and began with the conventional "scissors" roll. She added a twist that sends her over the bar backwards, a variation on American jumper Dick Fosbury's "Fosbury flop" that won him a gold medal in the high jump at Mexico City last year.

"It has its advantages," Swenson said. "Most jumpers hit the bar with their elbows or knees, this way you can't. The elbows and knees are pointing away from the bar."

REMEMBER WHEN . . . Tommy Burns, the only Canadian world heavyweight boxing champion, knocked out Jewey Smith in the fifth round in Paris 61 years ago today—in 1908. Only eight months later he was to lose his crown to Jack Johnson, in Australia. Burns, born Noah Brusso in Hanover, Ont., died in Vancouver in 1955.

Big Guns Chasing Lotz In Champs Tournament

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Dick Lotz, who tamed tough La Costa with a fantastic start, held a two-stroke lead going into today's second round of golf's Tournament of Champions. But there was a group of five charging at his heels.

Lotz, five under par on the first four holes Thursday, ended with a 67.

Gary Player, the British Open champion, was among a group of five challenging at 69.

Also in the group are Arnold Palmer, 49-year-old PGA king Julius Boros, Tom Weiskopf and Dave Stockton.

Defending champion Don January, Masters champ George Archer and Billy Casper, one of the pre-tourney favorites, all had 71s. U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino went to a 74 and Gene Littler, the season's leading money-winner, had a 75.

Youth Bowling Council Competing In Rutland

On Saturday at 4 p.m., 30 bowlers from Rutland, 29 from Abbotsford and 25 from Golden will compete at Valley Lanes, Rutland for the Western Canada Youth Bowlers provincial awards.

Also, through telephone hook-up with Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Northern Ontario, they will compete for Western Canada awards.

The Western Canada Youth Bowlers Association was formed in September, 1967, by the Alberta Five-Pin Association. Their objective is to keep the challenge in bowling by using the king pin.

Rutland bowlers in this competition will be Peevees — Scratch — Marianne Lischka, Sherilee Holioen, Steven Brown and Daryl Westrodowski. Handicap — Karin Kitaura, Susan Metzgar, Joe Gaal and Frank DeGroot. Bantams — Scratch — Danka Lischka, Janice Fowler, Douglas Runzer and Colin Farr. Handicap — Karlene Charlton, Jane Elliott, Cameron Henderson and Bruce Bauer. Juniors — Scratch — Lorena Lischka, Cheryl Charlton, Bernhart Schaurte and John Kitch. Handicap — Myrna Bach, Susan Cushing, Gary Pettillion and Grant Edstrom. Seniors — Scratch — Linda Grusie, Linda Stein and Randy Runzer. Handicap — Kathy Greer, Joan Sherritt and Eddy Lischka.

These bowlers were picked during a three-week period of qualifying rounds in February. These bowlers have been practising three times a week under the coaching and supervision of Rudy Runzer, Andy Kitch and Jim Kitaura.

The Kelowna Five-Pin Association and the Rutland Bowling Association will be in charge of the scorekeeping and official scoreboard.

John McGarvey, Kamloops, president of the Interior Bowling Association, representing the B.C. Five-Pin Bowling Association will be in attendance to present the awards.

Billeting is still required for some out-of-town bowlers.

Ayres and Mrs. E. G. Fletcher; junior section, Mrs. Ed Nell. Fair day displays will be in charge of E. G. Fletcher.

A phoning committee was set up to phone all members before each meeting. Mrs. George Tuck and Mrs. Al Galpin volunteered for this committee.

The 1968 fair list was then studied section by section and changes made, and persons and businesses who donated prizes last year will be again contacted. Arrangements for letters and personal approaches were made.

Oyama Legion Hears Reports

OYAMA (Special) — The general monthly meeting of the Royal Canadian Legion was held in the club April 9 with 22 members in attendance. President Derek Eyles was chairman. Reports were given by the committees concerning legion activities in the past month. S. Kobayashi, entertainment chairman, is organizing a shuffleboard and dart tournament which will be open to all local organizations who wish to participate.

N. Hitchman, sick and visiting committee chairman reported one member is hospitalized. President D. Eyles gave an interesting report on the zone meeting which was held in Vernon on March 30. D. Eyles and K. Gingell were nominated to attend the provincial convention to be held in Prince George in June. The two delegates will represent branch 189 and submit the wishes of the membership. Tentative plans are being made to enlarge the existing Legion premises and a building committee consisting of five members has been elected to deal with many phases required to establish such a project.

The meeting endorsed the plans for the extension, and the committee headed by G. Nairne hope for favorable endorsements from other sources.

Rutland Builds At Fast Pace

RUTLAND (Special) — Building figures released by the government building inspector's office, Kelowna, indicate steady expansion in the construction line in the Rutland district in the first three months of 1969.

In January 16 permits for dwellings were issued for a total value of $191,582 and two duplexes for a total of $45,404, bringing the January, mid-winter figures to a total of $236,986. February saw 18 new houses started, valued at $212,334, the commencement of two duplexes, to a total of $253,950. March was the highest month with 23 new dwellings started, with a value of $264,128 and one duplex at $22,220. There was also an addition to the South Rutland school on Mallach Road costing $22,220.

The grand total for all building permits in the three month period came to $804,505 and includes a total of 57 dwellings and five duplexes. A number of new subdivisions are appearing and the next quarterly period, with better weather conditions for building, will no doubt see a greater increase.

FORCED TO SELL
PERIGUEUX, France (AP) — Josephine Baker's personal property brought $52,000 on the auction block. Miss Baker, retired music hall singer, was forced to sell her chateau, furniture and jewelry for debts incurred while trying to make a tourist attraction of the home of her large, multi-racial adopted family.

LARGELY LIVESTOCK
Livestock now accounts for about two-thirds of Canada's farm cash income.

Vice-president of the group advanced a suggestion for increasing space on fair day which will be Sept. 5 this year, a week earlier than it has been held in past years. He suggested that a large tent situated outside the hall could be used as a tea tent, freeing room in the hall for exhibits.

Other suggestions included changing the set on tables using second platforms in steps, same as is now done in the flower section and the hanging of the sandwich boards on the walls for displays. All these suggestions will be further looked into later in the year.

Next discussed was the storage of the two fall fair trophies which are to be withdrawn from competition this year. The silver tray grand aggregate trophy donated by Fuls General Store, and the Walters Limited Cup for best in peach-ces.

Neither of the businesses who donated these trophies are now doing business in the community, and had asked the trophies be withdrawn. The committee felt that these trophies should still be kept on display and felt the municipal hall would be the best place to display them. E. G. Fletcher offered to bring this matter to the attention of council and to ask permission for a glass case holding these trophies to be kept in the hall.

The committee's participation in the Peachland May Day celebrations was next discussed. President Mrs. Smith stated that arrangements for decorating the community hall could be left to the next meeting but a queen candidate must be chosen now.

Names of girls eligible between the ages of 14 and 16 were given by members, these were placed in a container and one drawn. The girl chosen was Joy Spackman, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Spackman, and will be Miss Fall Fair at the May Day celebrations.

Speakers for future meetings were discussed. Members felt that a guest to speak on judge's standards in the women's section would be a good thing, although it was decided that the next meeting will be too busy still with fair lists, for a speaker. One will be invited to the June meeting of the group.

Next regular meeting of the committee will be held May 7 at 8 p.m. in the Recreation Hall.
